Raising funds for cancer in honour of two local women

There is nothing worse than watching a loved one suffer.

Lifelong Lundar friends Bonnie Lussier and Leanne Magnusson watched their mothers, who were also friends, battle cancer — and they don't want others to have to live through the agony their families endured.

Magnusson's mother, Dorene Petersen, passed on Sept. 19, 2022, and Lussier's mother, Darlene Law, passed on Jan. 25, 2023.

"It's just so unreal," Magnusson said. "When my mom was diagnosed last April, Bonnie came over to my house and we were chatting and I remember telling her 'I hope you never have to go through this' and, bam, we lost our mommas 128 apart."

Petersen and Law worked a combined 70 years as health-care aides with Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority. Their daughters followed in their footsteps, at one time taking the health-care aide program together.

Magnusson worked with Law at Lundar Personal Care Home for many years and Lussier worked with Dorene Petersen at EM Crowe Memorial Hospital in Eriksdale, taking over her job when she retired.

The duo signed up for the 80-kilometre Run/Walk Challenge for the Canadian Cancer Society to raise funds and awareness and to make an impact on putting an end to cancer.

"It is just so raw for both of us still and not much to do to help, so we thought this could help the heart heal," said Lussier.

When they decided to participate in the challenge, they set their fundraising goal at $1,000. By April 1 when they started their walk, they had well surpassed their goal by more than

"We are truly grateful for all of our supporters," Lussier said. "When we decided to do this walk to honour our moms, we never dreamed of raising $1,000 for cancer and now we are just over $11,000."

Last Saturday they were joined by friends and family as they clocked their first official five kilometres.

The Canadian Cancer Society is committed to making a difference in the lives of nearly half of Canadians expected to be diagnosed with cancer in their lifetime. They fund groundbreaking research into more than 100 types of cancer. They offer compassionate programs and support service so no one has to face cancer alone.

Lussier and Magnusson welcome anyone to join in on their walks and

Help out hockey by teeing off in Teulon with ABPRC's 2nd Annual Golf Tournament

By Patricia Barrett

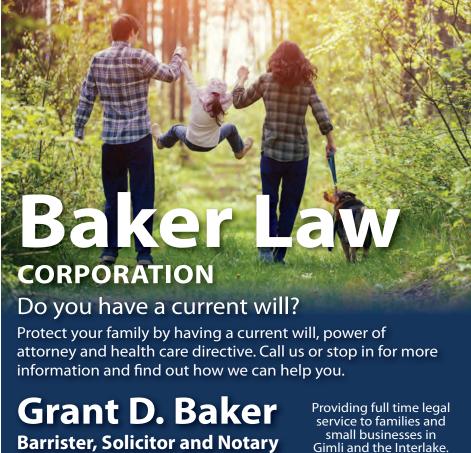

The Arborg-Bifrost Parks and Recreation Commission is holding its 2nd Annual Golf Tournament in a few months to fundraise for hockey programs in Arborg.

Like the inaugural event last year, which helped address a COVID-related slump in enrolment and lost revenues, this year's tournament will be offering lots of prizes for participants.

Recreation director Tom Chwaliboga said the odds of hitting a hole in one are favourable as the holes are closer to the tee and come with a cash

"This golf tournament is going to be a little more unique than most others because all the holes are a Par 3 golf tournament," said Chwaliboga. "Holes can be 350, 450 or 500 yards but all these holes will be 150 to 190 yards. The nice thing about that is there's a good chance to get a hole in

Easter Egg Hunt, silent auction in memory of Owen Eyolfson

Fundraiser for the Arborg riverbank skating rink on April 8

By Patricia Barrett

Friends and family of Owen Eyolfson, who passed away at the age of 37 last year, are holding an Easter Egg Hunt fundraiser in his name this Saturday at the Travelling Inn in Arborg.

Dave Greene, a well known Elvis tribute artist and singer from Moosehorn and friend of Eyolfson, is helping organize the event in conjunction with Eyolfson's parents.

"We're inviting children to come to the Travelling Inn to search for Easter treats in the bar and the deck outside. We're set up for over 100 kids," said Greene, who has performed at the Travelling Inn, as well as across Manitoba. "After that we'll have colouring and face-painting for the kids. This fundraiser is for the installation of lighting at the skating rink on the river."

Eyolfson, who owned the Travelling Inn and the Arborg Hotel, was a well respected entrepreneur in the community and was a member of and served as president of the Central Interlake Chamber of Commerce. He served on many boards and helped establish the Arborg Training Centre in town. He always had time for a friendly chat.

Greene said April 8 is Owen's birthday and his mom told him she thought it would be a perfect day to remember him as well as help the kids celebrate Easter.

"Owen was a community-minded guy. He did a lot in the community and was always willing to help. At some of the Elvis festivals, he donated rooms for us to stay in for two or three nights," said Greene. "He was a wonderful person and very giving of himself and generous to his community. He loved life. Losing him was an absolute tragedy. I have two sons and I can't imagine losing a child."

There will be hotdogs and pop for the kids at the event, and after the hunt wraps up Greene said he'll be performing. There will also be a silent auction later in the evening.

Proceeds from the event will go towards the purchase of lights for the skating rink on the Icelandic River that the Town of Arborg and volunteers build each year to promote outdoor activity and community fun.

In December when the kids were skating, they found that one light wasn't enough to adequately light the rink as it gets dark after five, said

"We're hoping that people will donate money to this cause. I think it's a wonderful cause. I like to call it Owen's Easter Hunt to help raise money to light up children's lives," he said.

The Easter Egg hunt runs from 1 to 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 8 at the Travelling Inn at 273 Sunset Blvd., just off Highway 68. Admission is $5.

Cha-ching! Make your money pay at the Manitoba Coin Club's show

By Patricia Barrett

If you've got a commemorative 1973 Mountie quarter — which honours the centennial of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police — don't plug it into a parking meter or coin-operated laundry machine because it could be worth hundreds of dollars depending on its condition and whether the Queen's image is a small or a large bust.

To get the lowdown on what collectibles — such as old or commemorative coins and coin sets, bank tokens, paper bills, stamps, medallions and comic books — could be worth, bring them to the Manitoba Coin Club's Coin, Stamp & Collectibles show in May at the Red Barn just south of Stonewall.

Club members can price your collectibles, tell you some of the fascinating history behind the items and perhaps make you an offer too irresistible to pass up. They'll also have some of their own collectibles on display.

Coin club member Larry Dalman, who has about 50 years' experience valuing currency, said this is the first time since the club's inception in 1954 that it will hold a show in rural Manitoba.

"We're trying to be more inclusive for people living in the rural areas. We want to give them an opportunity to see old bills and coins and other collectibles and bring their own collectibles in," said Dalman.

The club had one of the "greatest turnouts" last fall at its show in West St. Paul. It drew people from all across the province, including Gimli, Selkirk, Morden, Winkler, Portage la Prairie and Brandon.

In addition to finding out how much your devil-faced 1954 paper bills (is there a devil hiding in the Queen's hair?) are worth — a whole lot if they're in pristine condition — people can learn about the history of money and how Canadian banks operated in days of yore.

Every commercial bank in Canada — including Canada's first bank, the Bank of Montreal — made their own tokens, which were substitutes for coins. Paper notes were also issued by banks in provinces such as British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

"There were more than 120 banks in Canada using their own bank notes. People were carrying around a variety of bills from the Bank of Montreal, the Bank of New Brunswick and so forth," said Dalman. "But in 1944 the Government of Canada asked those banks to quit making their money and took over ownership."

Newfoundland made a two-dollar gold coin between 1865 and 1888, he said. The rarest of the lot are those made in 1880. In bad shape it will fetch about $1,570. One that's close to "uncirc" (uncirculated condition) will net about $3,000. A "really, really nice one" is worth $24,500. And they're still out there. Somewhere.

"They did put out a specimen [two-dollar gold] coin, one that was sold separately as a specimen and was not intended to see a human hand. In perfect shape, it's worth $122,500," said

Canadian coinage made from silver will get you only face value if you take it to a bank. Companies that buy Canadian silver currency will give you the current market value of silver by weight. But a single silver coin or a coin set could be worth far more money if they're in good condition and have unique characteristics such as a flaw, small production run or other special feature that make them

IERHA staff members participate in Philippines recruitment effort

Two Interlake-Eastern RHA nursing leaders have returned from the recent provincially led recruitment trip to the Philippines with positive feedback to share.

From Feb. 19 to 27, Tracy Abraham, clinical team manager for Pinawa District Hospital and cancer navigation, and Angelina Hartwell, clinical team manager for Sunnywood Manor in Pine Falls, embarked on the provincial initiative to recruit trained healthcare workers from the Philippines.

For three days, the Manitoba team interviewed candidates in Manila. Then they split up to conduct interviews in both Cebu City and Iloilo, which are both located on different islands.

"This was a great way to share the opportunity among different cities in the Philippines. The locals were very excited and pleased to have us in their beautiful country. The people are incredibly friendly, polite and eager to please," said Abraham, who was impressed with the hospitality.

"Overall, people were super excited to attend the interviews. We had people travel far and wide to attend.

plane, and many had come directly after work or had to hang out in a local minimart until the venue opened. These people were very determined to get an interview."

In total, nearly 350 letters of intent were issued by the end of the trip for positions in Manitoba.

"The first question on the interview package was 'Why do you want to come work in Manitoba, Canada?' The answers were amazing — everything from the climate, nature, the stable economy, the growth and opportunity for family and careers, the pension, the health benefits, safety ... and to see aurora borealis," Abraham

"The opportunity to go and meet all of these wonderful people, who were so eager for an interview, was truly humbling. People were so excited to have the opportunity. They wanted selfie pictures and some would cry at the end of their interview, just so emotional to be given this opportunity. So many people thanked us for coming and would even give us well wishes to enjoy our stay in their country. We

Some folks arrived by bus, boat or felt very fortunate to be a part of this experience."

Workers that were recruited will be working in facilities throughout the region where they are needed.

"These new team members are going to be instrumental in building capacity within our communities once again. If we can build healthcare teams with staff who live local, raise their families local and participate in the communities, this all leads to improving our economy and the strength of the community," Abraham said.

"Plans are in place to make decisions about where the new health-care team members will work. We are hoping that the new recruits will join our region in the next three to six months."

While the health-care workers adapt to their new jobs, Abraham hopes they'll also be warmly welcomed into their new communities.

"Having community supports in place is going to be crucial to support our new health-care team members,"

"Having supportive team members is one thing, but it's also going to be

Gimli council members should find money for health and well-being over raises

It should be quite obvious to everyone that fitness is not a high priority for this council nor was it a priority for previous councils. Ignoring the fitness centre in the Rec Centre has led us to the point we are at today — machines broken, cleanliness not a priority and rates not keeping with the realities of fitness centres in Gimli today.

I just signed up for a membership and it cost me $40 for one month. That gets me access to the centre Monday to Thursday from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday the hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The centre is closed on Sundays. I looked and couldn't find a study that said exercising on Sunday was a danger to your well-being.

Just down the road GLOW fitness, for $61 a month would give me 24-7 access. There are also a wide variety of classes to help you get fit. The classes are extra but the overall value is still evident. As much as I would want to join GLOW, the major problem is my gender. GLOW is a women's-only fitness centre. So I am stuck with the basement at the Rec Centre.

In 2021 the town spent jus over $2 million on Recreation and Cultural services. My question would be, out of the $2 million, how much went to the gym? I suspect not a great

Our current council should be embarrassed by the state of the gym. They were able to find money for their raises. They should be able to find money for the health and wellbeing of the residents.

Province skips a week of respiratory surveillance reporting

By Patricia Barrett

The provincial government did not release its respiratory surveillance report on COVID and other respiratory viruses last Friday (March 31), which would have been reporting Week 12 (March 19-25).

The surveillance reports provide information on new COVID infections detected by restricted PCR testing, new hospitalizations and new deaths, as well as new influenza and respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) infections.

A notice on the province's surveillance report website said the next report will be issued on April 6.

There were 155 new COVID infections reported in Week 11 (March 12-18), as well as 49 new hospitalizations with six ICU admissions. No new COVID deaths were reported that week. Wastewater surveillance data for Winnipeg and Brandon up to March 14 indicated sustained COVID activity.

Because of the delay in reporting, or no new deaths to report, Manitoba's COVID death toll remains at 2,470 as of March 18, according to the federal government's COVID webpage. Canada's death toll now stands at 51,930.

Other health news:

- The number of pediatric patients in the intensive care unit at the Children's Hospital in Winnipeg has increased because of a "resurgence in respiratory illness" circulating in the province, and some surgical procedures considered non-urgent may be postponed, according to provincial Shared Health in a March 30 statement on its website.

"There were 17 pediatric patients receiving intensive care this morning. The normal baseline capacity for the pediatric ICU (PICU) is nine," says the statement. "A significant number of these patients were experiencing medically complex cases that were Shared Health said it's deploying about 10 staff — including some from pediatric surgical and recovery units — to PICU in response to the increased pressure.

Moosehorn Heritage Museum to make capital improvements

This month, the Moosehorn Heritage Museum will start the process of making some capital improvements to its space thanks to the provincial government.

At the end of March, Moosehorn Heritage Museum heard the good news that they would finally get the funding they needed to do some much-needed repairs on the museum.

The museum was among a number of recipients of the Arts, Culture and Sport in Community Fund. From this funding, they received $25,000.

They were awarded these funds as part of the small capital and special initiatives category. In this funding area, establishments are given funds for projects supporting the development and renewal of facilities and spaces used for arts, culture and sport programming and activities. The awards are between 50 and 100 per cent of eligible expenses, to a maximum of $300,000.

The Province of Manitoba's website states that this funding is meant to "enhance Manitobans' opportunities to access quality programming and facilities in their own community."

Before getting notice that they had received the funding, the museum had to do a lot of prep work, said Diane Bittner, treasurer at the Moosehorn Heritage Museum.

First, the museum joined the Association of Manitoba Museums as a member, and the association sent out a curator in the fall. The curator did a tour of the building, resulting in a 22-page report to the museum with suggestions for conservation methods and improvements they needed to do immediately.

With their funding, the museum plans to make many capital improvements that have been put on the back burner since the onset of the COV-ID-19 pandemic.

The improvements include LED lighting, UV blocking blinds, having their well repaired, paying for buildsupplies ing to build a new insulated box around the well, fixing one of the emergency exit decks, repurchased five respirators with replacement filters and two hepa vacuums to keep their volunteers safe when they do carpet and put in vinyl flooring in the Masonic Hall and workspace in the Canadian National Railway (CNR) building, new shingles for the Canadian Forces Base (CFB) building, continuous eavesdropping to go on all the buildings, and a laptop, printer and scanner to digitize their artifact

"We will be able to bring things up to a standard where we implement other improvements. ...It will give us a nice base to work from," said Bittner.

The museum hopes to get started prepping for these large-scale improvements now, like moving things out so they can begin ripping out the carpet, so when they receive the funding, they can get started right away.

Bittner said their goal is to complete many of these improvements before opening in July.

The museum's funding helps with the cost of the supplies to make the capital improvements mentioned above, but it does not consider the human resources needed to get it done.

The museum welcomes volunteers to help get these improvements on the roll by helping with tasks like pulling out carpets, laying new vinyl flooring, installing blinds, deep cleaning artifacts and data capturing.

To volunteer to help with these projects, contact Diane Bittner at 204-294-

As part of the PC government's plan to strengthen communities, they are investing nearly $50 million through the Arts, Culture and Sport in Community (ACSC) fund to support 402 projects that will support the delivery of quality programming and facilities in communities throughout Manitoba. Derek Johnson, MLA for Interlake-Gimli is proud to report that nine local organizations are receiving ACSC funding.

"I'm so thrilled to see these funds going to some great local initiatives,"

The ACSC fund initially intended to distribute the $100 million in grants over three years; however, because an exceptional number of qualified organizations submitted applications for high-quality, innovative projects that contribute to thriving sustainable communities, the PC team is investing an additional $16 million allocated to the 2022-23 intake.

New angling regulations take effect April 1

Submitted by Manitoba government

Manitobans and visitors will be able to enjoy year-round fishing opportunities for certain species across the province starting April 1, Natural Resources and Northern Development Minister Greg Nesbitt announced Wednesday.

"As new regulations come into effect, anglers will be able to experience a whole new fishing adventure," said Nesbitt. "It's exciting to be able to catch species such as northern pike and smallmouth bass during a time that has traditionally been closed. The Manitoba government encourages everyone to explore the province's world-class fisheries."

Walleye fishing will be closed starting April 3 this season. The walleye fishing season opens in the Southern fishing division on May 13, except on Lake Winnipeg, which opens one week later on May 20, and in the Northwest and North Central fishing divisions, which will also open May 20. Anglers must not target species during closed times.

Some areas will be closed to all fishing this spring to protect spawning stocks including the Red River between Lockport Dam and Lake Winnipeg, Dauphin Lake and its tributaries, excluding the Vermilion Reservoir, and the Assiniboine River downstream of the Portage Diversion to Provincial Road 240.

New angling licences can be purchased online and at participating vendors starting April 1. Annual licences will be valid starting May 1 and new oneday angling licences will be valid for chosen dates. Fee changes will align with new licence types. Anglers will now be able to carry angling licences on an electronic device or as a printed copy and must be able to show proof of licensing upon request. All anglers are required to obtain a Manitoba angling licence to fish in the province, unless exempt or fishing within a federal park.

Manitoba seniors, active military members and veterans who reside in Manitoba do not require an angling licence to fish but must show proof of age, residency and identification.

For more information on fishing regulations refer to the 2023 Manitoba Anglers' Guide, available online at www.manitobafisheries.com or in stores where angling licences are sold.

Pharmacare deductible rates frozen for upcoming benefit year

Submitted by the Manitoba government

The Manitoba government will freeze deductible rates for the Manitoba Pharmacare Program in 2023-24 to keep pharmacare affordable for Manitobans who need it, Health Minister Audrey Gordon announced.

"Our government recognizes the financial challenges facing many Manitobans," Gordon said. "That is why, for the third time in four years, we are waiving any increase to the rates for the 2023-24 benefit year, which begins on April 1."

Each year, program participants are required to pay a portion of the cost of their eligible prescription drugs, which is the pharmacare deductible. It is updated every year, based on a set formula. Following this formula, the rates for 2023-24 would have increased by more than six per cent if the Manitoba government had not chosen to implement a freeze. In 2022-23, the pharmacare deductible rates increased by 1.8 per cent. In the previous two years, the Manitoba government froze the deductible rates, recognizing the financial challenges caused by the COVID-19 pandemic and related economic recovery.

The deductible is calculated based on adjusted family income, and Manitobans are reminded that a family's deductible may still change this year if their income has changed. Annual filing of taxes is recommended to ensure access to this important program.

Pharmacare is a drug benefit program for eligible Manitobans whose income is seriously affected by high prescription drug costs. Coverage is based on total family income and the amount paid for eligible prescription drugs.

Carbon tax costs average family up to $710 this year

Parliamentary Budget Officer

OTTAWA, ONT: The Canadian Taxpayers Federation is calling on the federal government to scrap the carbon tax following the Parliamentary Budget Officer report showing the carbon tax costs families hundreds of dollars more than they get back in rebates.

"The PBO is clear: the carbon tax costs families hundreds of dollars more every year than the rebates they get back," said Franco Terrazzano, federal director of the CTF. "The PBO shows politicians are using magic math to sell their carbon tax."

The Trudeau government claims "families are going to be better off" with its carbon tax and rebates. However, today's PBO report shows this is incorrect

"Most households will see a net loss, paying more in fuel charges and GST, as well as receiving lower incomes, compared to the Climate Action Incentive payments they receive and lower personal income taxes they pay," according to the PBO.

The carbon tax will cost the average household up to $710 this year after the rebates. The table below shows the net federal carbon tax costs for the average household, according to the PBO.

Province

Net cost (total cost – rebates) for the average household, 2023

Alberta $710 Saskatchewan $410 Manitoba $386 Ontario $478 Nova Scotia $431 Prince Edward Island $465

Newfoundland and Labrador $347

"It simply isn't credible to believe the feds can raise taxes, skim some off the top for administration costs and somehow make families better off," Terrazzano said. "Prime Minister Justin Trudeau should scrap the carbon tax to save families hundreds of dollars every year."

Due to the tax-on-tax, the carbon tax also increases the amount of sales tax Canadians pay.

"We estimate that $429 million in GST from the fuel charge will be collected in 2023-24, rising to $924 million in 2030-31," according to the PBO.

one on some of them because they're close."

Last year, the tournament attracted more than 70 participants and offered over $200,000 in hole-in-one prizes that included a vehicle, an electric bike, $30,000 worth of fuel and cash prizes, and Chwaliboga said they're hoping for more of that this year.

There will be cash prizes for a closest-to-the-hole contest.

"Whoever gets closest to the hole is guaranteed to win $200," said Chwaliboga. "They don't necessarily need to get a hole in one, they just have to be the closest to the hole."

Proceeds from the tournament will be put towards supporting local hockey programs and rink maintenance.

"All the funds from the tournament will be split three ways: between Arborg Minor Hockey, the Arborg Ice Dawgs Junior B Hockey team, and towards maintenance costs at the Arborg & District Arena," said Chwaliboga.

Jermaine Loewen, who grew up in Arborg and now plays in the American Hockey League, took part in last year's tournament and the commission is hoping to see him join the fun this year.

After the tournament wraps up, golfers can attend a banquet at the Teulon Rockwood Centennial Centre.

The tournament will be held on Friday, June 16 at the Teulon Golf Course. For more information about registration, call Tom Chwaliboga at 204-641-0512.

RM of Gimli launches short-term rental survey

By Patricia Barrett

The RM of Gimli launched an online and paper survey on short-term rental properties (STR) last week, inviting full-time and seasonal residents, non-residents, businesses and owners of STR properties to complete the sur-

The 16-question survey includes questions with respect to why people are interested in or concerned about short-term rentals, whether they're aware of STRs operating in their neighbourhoods, whether they rent out part of or all of their property, whether they believe short-term rentals, overall, are good for the municipality, the extent to which they've been negatively impacted by them and whether they feel regulations such as licensing, capacity limits, enforcement and so forth are needed.

Those in favour of short-term rentals are being asked to select up to three of the most important benefits from a supplied list that includes attracting more visitors to the community to benefit the local economy, generates income for homeowners, provides accommodation for seasonal workers and increases property values.

Those opposed to short-term rentals are asked to choose three of the most important harms from a supplied list that includes decreasing the residential character of a neighbourhood, lowering property values, decreasing personal and neighbourhood privacy, safety and security, and generating excessive noise from guest parties or large gatherings.

The survey also allows respondents to provide open-ended comments to some of the questions. The survey is available on the RM's website and in paper from the municipal office in Gimli.

Gimli council will be presenting the results of the survey at a short-term rental open house on April 21 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Waterfront Centre.

The Municipality of Harrison Park, whose administrative office is located in Onanole near Riding Mountain National Park, released a 66-page regulation strategy report last year as short-term rentals in that RM particularly in Onanole — became a prominent and divisive community issue in 2021, following an upsurge in the number of STRs operating and subsequent escalation of nuisance-related complaints and concern around the lack of regulations and enforcement'

A survey carried out by the RM had 66 per cent of respondents saying STRs create adverse impacts on neighbouring properties, and 91 per cent saying STRs should be subject to regulation or minimum standards.

In 2022 the Harrison Park adopted Bylaw No. 119 (STR Licensing) that requires any person operating a shortterm rental prior to May 31, 2022, to apply for a licence. Each STR property must have its own licence. A licence is issued subject to the condition that the STR complies with the bylaw.

Those operating a STR prior to May 21, 2022, and who've been granted a licence, are required to apply for a conditional use application. As of June 1, 2022, new short-term rentals must apply for a conditional use application and receive approval before the licence is issued.

The licence has to be placed in a visible area on the STR property, and the licence number has to be included in all advertisements.

Some of the other provisions in the bylaw include a requirement for property owners to disclose their operation to their home insurance provider, that guests or visitors not make or allow noise nuisances, that guests must park on the premises rather than on municipal roads and that limits on overnight adult guests are two per "legal bedroom." The STR properties are subject to municipal inspection and enforcement.

On the east side of Lake Winnipeg, the Rural Municipally of Lac du Bonnet released in 2022 a final report on the short-term rental survey it had conducted in response to the rise in STRs there. It found that 61 per cent of respondents were in favour of the RM instituting regulations through bylaw.

There are a number of areas with respect to short-term rentals that many members of the public have said they'd like regulated including fire safety, cleaning standards, capacity limits, trust funds for holding payments in order to protect consumers of the service and the identification of owners renting multiple units.

But municipalities are limited to what they can do under Manitoba law. Unlike some provinces, there are no regulations for short-term rentals at the Manitoba provincial level.

The Manitoba Securities Commission's Real Estate Division worked in conjunction with the Manitoba Real Estate Association to revamp the now named Real Estate Services Act in 2022, but they did not include shortterm rentals in the Act.

The commission, which is an independent agency of the provincial government, regulates the real estate services industry.

When asked why short-term rentals were excluded, a spokesperson for the commission's real estate division said STRs are "not an area that we have previously regulated and there has been no change in the MSC's regulatory scope."

As regards MSC's potential future oversight of short-term rentals, the spokesperson said: "We are unaware of any current plans with respect to regulation of STRs."

Wheat and Wildflower Handmade: clothing for good

By Autumn Fehi

Janine Duguid embarked on a new career path in the fall of 2020.

In the midst of the pandemic, she lost her job in the agriculture industry due to corporate downsizing, so she turned to something she loved to make a living.

Duguid was looking for a way to stay home and be more flexible for her family.

Duguid creates and sews "grow with me clothing" through Wheat & Wildflower Handmade.

"I've loved to sew since I was a child and thought this was a good opportunity to try that by starting up a shop," said Duguid.

up a shop," said Duguid.

This clothing style has an extendable cuff that accommodates growing kids for three growth sizes so clothes last longer. It's made with natural fabrics, so it's a sustainable choice for families.

As a mom of three, Duguid saw firsthand how quickly her kids grew out of clothes and what a money pit it was to replace outfits when they outgrew them constantly — sometimes hardly worn.

This is where grow-with-me clothing comes in handy. With the extendable cuffs and thoughtfully designed patterns, the clothing is stylish and functional, ready to grow with kids up to three sizes, saving money on clothes in the long run.

"It's nice to have high-quality, handmade stuff that is excellent quality fabric that will hold up to wash and wear and tear. It's clothing that will be able to be passed down to future generations of kids or future kids within the same family," said Duguid.

Some styles of clothing Wheat & Wildflower Handmade sells are pullovers, joggers, shorts, T-shirts, dresses and accessories. Sizes range from newborns up to 12-year sizing. Accessories are also available for teens and adults. The sizing categories: the smallest size coverage is from newborn up to six months, then a three-month up to one year, one year up to 3T, 3T to 6T, 6T to nine years and nine years to 12-year sizing.

Prices on clothing items vary. Accessories start at $8 each for the scrunchies. The lower-end prices for her clothing pieces start at $35-$40 and increase as the child grows, based on the amount of fabric she uses. The biggest size is $60. Her three-piece sets, which include a T-shirt, shorts and pullover, range from $75 to just under $100. For more details, check out her website.

Not only does Duguid's clothing work to solve budgetary concerns, but it is also a set towards a more sustainable lifestyle.

Each year, 100 billion garments are made. Ninety-two million tonnes of them make up our landfills.

Purchasing clothing that grows with you means buying less, helping to reduce the 92 million tonnes of waste in our landfills.

To be even more conscious of her waste, Duguid uses small fabric scraps from her clothing orders to make accessories. The smaller pieces that can't be used for accessories, Duguid uses to stuff beds for pets, which she donates to the Gimli Humane Society.

"When I first opened my shop, I knew that waste would be generated. ... Right from when I started, I wanted to find a solution, so I wasn't sending fabric scrapes to landfill," said Duguid.

Duguid has made and donated the animal beds to the Humane Society since she opened two and a half years ago.

She said her children often help her stuff the beds, so it's become a family thing.

So far this year, Duguid has donated approximately 50 beds.

With less than three years into the business, Duguid has many goals. Her main goal is to expand her customer reach and grow her email newsletter. In addition, she is working on her spring and summer lines, which will be available at many in-person spring and summer markets. She is at the Arnes Farmer's Market most of the summer.

Wheat & Wildflower Handmade ships across Canada, and orders are shipped out within 24 hours of being placed. Pick-up can be arranged.

a collector's item.

Even money that's not considered "old" can be worth more than face value. For example, the Royal Canadian Mint issued three different commemorative 10-cent coins in 2021 for the 100th anniversary of the Blue Nose. One is coloured, one is uncoloured and one has 1921 on its left side and 2021 on its right side, said Dalman. The dime with the dates on the left and right side is the more highly valued coin.

People with American and other foreign currency (coins or bills) — including coins from Roman times — are welcome to bring them to the show for evaluation.

Dalman said the club is hoping to get more children interested in collectibles including specialty coins depicting superheroes or Disney characters, as well as comic books.

"Coins nowadays run the gamut of subjects. I will be bringing some of my superman coins, Disney coins and sports coins to the show," said Dalman. "We'll also have Marvel Comics, DC Comics, Batman, Superman, Black Panther, Wonder Women and other comic books at the show."

The coin club will be joined by staff from the Royal Canadian Mint, which will be offering a free coin exchange. The Mint is bringing uncirculated collectible loonies that people can have in exchange for two run-of-the-mill loonies.

People who want to learn about how to value their coins and bills before the show can visit websites such as coinsandcanada.com

The Manitoba Coin Club's Coin, Stamp & Collectibles show takes place May 13-14 at the Little Red Barn on Highway 236 and Road 75, just south of Stonewall. Admission is $5. There will be give-aways and door prizes. Children under 12 get in free. There is parking for hundreds of cars.

IFM expanding payment options and providing 'bigger bang' with $9,927 provincial grant

By Patricia Barrett

The Icelandic Festival of Manitoba (IFM) will be upgrading its technology to expand payment options for festival-goers and enhancing its entertainment offerings after receiving two grants from the provincial government.

IFM manager Thora Palson said the festival is very appreciative of the grants it received under the Arts, Culture and Sport in Community Fund's

The festival received a total of $9,927 under the Community Celebrations program and the Small Capital and Special Initiatives program.

"With this additional financial support from the province, the festival will make a technology investment and upgrade our office efficiency by adding an additional staff computer and update our point-of-sale system," said Palson. "Last year we recognized that we needed to focus on improving accessibility by providing the option of card payments at our events and being mindful of the challenges of dealing with cash only. With this grant funding we are able to make improvements to the efficiency and experience of our event and operations."

The grant received under the Community Celebrations program will enhance the festival's spectacular fireworks display, she said. The festival relies on fundraising with local businesses for the fireworks show and the grant money will see the festival on its way to a "bigger bang" for 2023.

"This summer when the sky lights up in awe, our thanks go to supporting local businesses which are recognized in the Icelandic Festival's traditional printed program and online content," said Palson, "and we'll acknowledge the grant contribution of the province towards the enhancement of the display."

She added that the festival appreciates the efforts of Gimli fire chief Gary MacGregor and his team who work behind the scenes to make the fireworks one of the highlights of Islendingadagurinn.

Celebrating the healing power of music

"EVERY DAY IN MY

WORK, I WORK WITH

PEOPLE WHO CAN'T

TELL ME THEIR FIST

NAME, BUT THEY

CAN SING ALL THE

WORDS TO THEIR

FAVOURITE SONGS."

By Lorne Stelmach

Joel Klassen is obviously a firm believer in the transformative and healing power of music.

The Winkler resident, who is now serving as the president of the Canadian Association of Music Therapists, sees every day how music therapy can help in a wide variety of situations to promote health, well-being and quality of life.

"Every day in my work, I work with people who can't tell me their first name, but they can sing all the words to their favourite songs," said Klassen, who was helping to promote and raise awareness of the field with March serving as Music Therapy Awareness Month.

"It's used in a wide range of settings. ... My experience is in long term care and at Eden Mental Health Centre, but many therapists work in school settings or in intensive care in hospitals or pediatric care or cancer wards and maternity wards."

Klassen believes it is a field that continues to gain more recognition, with about a thousand music therapists in Canada working in a variety of settings.

Music therapy has been proven to be help people improve skills, decrease stress and feel strengthened during a transition or crisis by alleviating physical symptoms, supporting coping and well-being, and aiding people in processing their spiritual and existential concerns.

It often involves counselling coupled with intentional listening to live and/or recorded music while discussing the personal relevance of song lyrics as well as more active engagement in music experiences such as writing songs, singing or playing instruments.

Klassen traces his interest in the field back to music being a big part of his family life as a child.

"I grew up in a very musical household," he said, noting he learned not only to play a number of instruments but also sang in choirs.

"After high school I started working in homes with adults with disabilities," he said. "I started to just realize I love working with people, and I started bringing my guitar to that day program setting."

He then learned about music therapy as a career and knew quickly that was what he wanted to be doing.

Today, about 80 per cent of his job is working in dementia care, travelling to work with residents in long-term care homes across the region. Music therapy is also a full-time position at the Eden Mental Health Centre; he started there in 2005.

"It's the most consistently helpful intervention that many of the residents experience," Klassen suggested. "Many of the people hardly come out of their rooms except for meals, but they'll come out for music.

"Actually, a lot of my training was with people with autism, so I would be sitting at a piano ... the child would be sitting with a drum or a cymbal," he recalled. "Maybe they're non-verbal or don't have language in the normal way, but they're banging on this drum, and I'm matching that at the piano."

Klassen welcomes any opportunity to spread the word about his field of work.

"Our lot in life as music therapists is to have kind of an elevator speech or a way of explaining what it is to people, and even that isn't all that easy to do," he said. "It's interesting to be in a profession where there's that need to explain yourself a lot.

"Music is a part of being human, and music therapy works for people in the same way that music works on all of us. The qualities of music, the rhythm and the emotion, they work on our human systems in very specific ways, and so a music therapist harnesses those qualities of music to facilitate the relationship.

"It's really like any other therapy in the sense that you're forming a relationship between two people, but it's music that is the tool that's facilitating that relationship."

Mise en Scene puts a spin on reality with new album and new beer

Party at Gimli's Ship & Plough on April 8

By Patricia Barrett

Indie rock band Mise en Scene has really put a spin on reality with its latest album, and the band will be celebrating its upcoming release along with a new beer — at the Ship & Plough pub in Gimli this Saturday.

The award-winning Gimli duo of Stefanie Johnson (guitar, vocals) and Jodi Dunlop (drums, vocals) will be treating fans and pub-goers to a preview of their new album Reality Bites and launching their second pale ale made by Torque Brewery. Later in the evening, people can take part in a musically themed pub quiz.

Johnson said she wrote the track Reality Bites before the COVID pandemic hit, and it turned out to be a fitting tribute to a general feeling of despondency about the future that has so many people in its grip, especially young adults. The album also takes on social media's image swindle and the rising polarization of society. But it speaks, as well, to our capacity for hope and our never-ending search for

The video for the single Reality Bites was shot in Gimli, with the town's laundromat on Third Avenue taking a supporting role. It follows the duo — their blue jackets a subtle nod to blue-collar workers — as they go about drudge-inducing tasks, feeling locked in to a repetitive cycle while asking why the temptation to leave it all behind is getting in the way of their minimum-wage jobs.

"It is about growing up and realizing I have to bills to pay and that I don't have summers off anymore because the mundane, brutal realities of adulthood have set in," said Johnson. "And since the pandemic hit, reality really does bite. There are wonderful things about life but there are also bad things about life, which is the reality of our world."

The band's high octane sound, soaring harmonies and clever hooks earned it the distinction of Rock Artist of the Year in 2021 at the Western Canadian Music Awards. Johnson and Dunlop are joined by session musicians from the Interlake, including Corey Hykawy from Gimli and Paige Drobot from Petersfield, to round out their sound.

The single Nicer, which the band released last spring but will be included on the new album, tackles nastiness and bullying, which was thrown into acute relief during the pandemic.

"We all have our own problems and issues, but we should start working towards being better to each other. I feel that we're still kind of cruel to each other judging by all the bullying we see. We're being really impatient with each other," said Johnson. "How do we move on from the pandemic and these hard times? We have to believe there is hope and happiness in the future because otherwise we wouldn't be able to go on."

Johnson also confronts the allure and illusion of social media through the song Beautiful People. She said the images we see online can often trigger body dysphoria, making people "feel really bad about themselves" and that "you're just a loser compared to images you see online."

The album will be released on vinyl for those who love to "handle a record, read the credits, flip it around and sit back and listen to all the songs" as opposed to listening to one track through a streaming service.

It features six tracks on Side A and six instrumentals of the same songs on Side B for people who "just want an instrumental kind of day."

"When you listen to the instrumental version, you can hear some of the nuances you might have missed with vocals present. It's a really cool way to listen to the songs," said Johnson.

The album preview party at the Ship & Plough will give fans a change to purchase merchandise and try out the band's new Reality Bites beer, a pale ale created for them by Winnipegbased Torque Brewery. The brewery had released a Winnipeg, California beer after the band's eponymous 2020 album. The beer will be available in liquor stores, including Gimli's.

The album is set for release on June 23. Johnson said she's planning to do an acoustic show or a songwriter-inthe round event in June after it's officially launched.

Not one to sit around, the band has already written material for their next album, which is expected to be released in 2024.

Mise en Scene will be at the Ship & Plough on April 8, starting at 4 p.m. The band is hosting a two-hour happy hour at which people can listen to the new album, purchase merchandise and try their new beer on tap. The pub quiz kicks off at 8 p.m.

Wagon rides coming to Stony Mountain this spring in memory of Laurel

By Autumn Fehr

A new horse-bound activity is coming soon to Stony Mountain.

As springtime comes and the snow starts melting away, horses' hooves will fill the dirt roads as wagon rides become available for residents.

Stephanie and Darrel Vincent, a couple who recently acquired a team of five-year-old shires from an old friend, will conduct the rides personally

"I love driving my team of horses, and anytime someone passes by the team, they have a big smile on their face, so we thought, 'Why not bring that joy to people's lives and offer a unique day out?'" said Stephanie Vincent.

When their good friend Laurel Blais passed away in October 2022, the Vincents took over the trained team of horses — five-year-old shires Willie and Willow.

"He was very well known and loved in his community of St. Laurent and always brought joy to people while driving his horses, so we hope to bring the same joy to Stony Mountain and surrounding areas," she said.

They will run the rides via the dirt roads right from their farm that they will be driving down and offering to go into town too.

If you're looking to go on a date with that special someone or even a double date with your friend, a ride on the beautiful white wagon is the way to go. The wagon rides are also great for family outings, as they can hold up to eight people.

For an hour ride for two people, it is $120, and for larger crowds of six to eight people, it will be $160 for an hour.

The rides will run until the first snowfall or until the weather is no longer nice enough. The couple will

First Nations teen signs one-day contract with NHL's Pittsburgh Penguins

By Sam Laskaris, Local Journalism Initiative Reporter Windspeaker.com

When he was diagnosed with a potentially dangerous heart condition back in 2016, Steven "Chayce" Taylor had to cut back on his athletic activities, including giving up playing hockey.

But that hasn't prevented Taylor, a 14-year-old from Berens River First Nation, from making it to the National Hockey League.

Earlier this month, Taylor signed a one-day contract to join the roster of the NHL's Pittsburgh Penguins, through Make-A-Wish. The foundation, launched in 1980, helps fulfill wishes for children under 18 with a critical illness.

Taylor was diagnosed with Long QT syndrome. He was born with a heart defect that can significantly alter his heart rate, leading to a potentially life-threatening situation. He now takes daily medication to regulate his heart rate.

Though signing a contract with the Penguins was obviously a highlight in his life, Taylor, who lives in Edmonton said most of his friends were nonchalant about the experience.

"My friends didn't care about it," said Taylor, whose cousin is former NHL star Reggie Leach, a member of the 1975 Stanley Cup champion Philadelphia Flyers. "They're mostly all into soccer. But my teachers were definitely impressed, and so were my neighbours."

Taylor's mother Kody said her son had actually been waiting a handful of years to have his wish granted of joining the Penguins' organization for a day.

Officials with Stollery Children's Hospital in Edmonton had completed paperwork that he was eligible for the Make-A-Wish program several years

Program officials then contacted Taylor's family to determine what Chayce's wish would be. His top preference was always to join the Penguins in Pittsburgh for a day.

After being told his wish would be granted, the COVID-19 pandemic hit the world in early 2020 putting Taylor's wish and travel plans on hold.

His wish was finally fulfilled a few weeks ago, on March 8. Taylor was one of four youth who signed one-day contracts to join the Penguins' organiza-

He travelled from Edmonton to Pittsburgh for a five-day trip with his mother, eight-month-old sister Beaux and his stepfather Kurt Johnson.

"It was absolutely incredible," Kody Taylor said. "He's been waiting for this for years."

Chayce and the three other wish recipients started off their trip by having breakfast inside the Penguins' dressing room.

Various Pittsburgh players, as well as the team's head coach Mike Sullivan, popped into the dressing room at various times during the breakfast, held before a team practice.

Sullivan said it's not just the wish recipients but also those part of the Penguins' organization who were fortunate to be part of the day.

"It's an incredible experience for all of us that have an opportunity to share an experience with these kids that are going through a difficult time," he said. "I think we gain every bit as much fulfillment out of it as they do. I know it's a huge thrill for our guys. They look forward to this opportunity. It's certainly a privilege from our standpoint to meet these kids."

After their breakfast and meet-and-greets in the dressing room, the wish recipients and Penguins' general manager Ron Hextall participated in a

"We're excited to have them as part of our team today," said Hextall, a former NHL goaltender. "It's an exciting day for all of our players. I know our players are pumped."

Local Denturist receives international award for dentures

BY FLISHA VANDOR

Every 2 years, the world's largest dental convention is held in Cologne, Germany. Well-known dental brands/companies, like 3M and Candulor (a Swiss Dental company), come from all over the world to showcase their latest innovations, improved dental technology and products. This year, the convention was held in mid-March and Brock's denture was showcased as one of the best in the world. So how did he receive such accolades and this prestigious title? Well, he competed in a world-wide denture competition! It's like the Olympics for Denturists - they compete in hopes to have their denture showcased and ranked among the world's best. The Swiss dental company and school, called Candulor, hosts the denture competition and this year was their 13th International. They received over 100 world-wide submissions across 4 continents. Each competitor receives the same patient description, mouth moulds, and criteria to create the dentures. The criterions are based on specific factors that a patient would normally request, like showing more upper and lower teeth, having a less protruding chin and more age-appropriate realistic looking teeth. Each competitor is required to custom-make the denture using their skills, knowledge and specific denture techniques. Those who placed in the top 15 were invited to attend the awards presentation ceremony in Cologne. With much anticipation and expectation, Brock was delighted to find out that he had placed in the top 15 and received a personal invite to attend the awards ceremony. He was honoured to receive 14th place for his denture work.

With the skills and knowledge he's acquired he has been asked to start providing lectures and courses on the art of Denturism. Ultimately, he says, "the best part is being able to serve my current and future patients in Winnipeg, Selkirk and the surrounding areas with excellent quality dentures, because people deserve the best that I myself and everyone in our clinic can offer."

When asked what makes his dentures award-winning, he said "it's about identifying what each patient wants and what's important for them to love their new teeth and then find a creative solution to do just that. Also, you have to identify the things that they don't like or had a bad experience with previously, and make sure we don't do the same thing again. I give a lot of credit to my dad (who was also a Denturist). He taught me that there's always a creative solution to any denture problem."

Brock has competed three times in the international denture competition, with his highest place being 1st in North America. If you would like to see what world class dentures can do for you then give us a call for a free consultation and ask about our senior pricing.

BASF Canada Agricultural Solutions to invest $75,000 to help grow Prairie communities

Submitted by BASF

Three growers across the Prairies will have a chance to win big for their hometowns this spring with the launch of Growing Home with BASF.

From April 3 to 30, individuals in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba can nominate organizations that help grow their communities to win one of the $25,000 prizes.

This year, BASF Canada Agricultural Solutions is launching a new community investment program, offering rural farming communities a chance to share what matters most to them. Community members will have the chance to rally around and raise support for their local organizations.

"Farming is the biggest job on earth and wouldn't be possible without the inspiring community support seen throughout the agriculture industry," says Nicole McAuley, head of communications and public affairs for BASF Canada Agricultural Solutions. "We are thrilled to have the opportunity to recognize and contribute to the essential institutions that connect and strengthen farming communities across the prairies."

Growers and their rural communities are the heartbeat of Western Canada and BASF is proud to support those communities. Participants are encouraged to nominate local organizations and initiatives on which their communities rely, from recreation centres to playgrounds, and volunteer emergency services to food pantries.

Nominations will be judged based on criteria including alignment to Canadian agriculture and alignment to BASF's values — building safe and healthy communities; diversity, equity and inclusion; and developing future leaders in agriculture.

Following the nomination period, 15 finalists — five from each province will be selected and announced for public voting to select one winning organization in each province. Voting will be available throughout Canada, with the three winners to be announced in June.

To learn more about Growing Home with BASF and for full terms and conditions, please visit agsolutions.ca/ growinghome.

Several of the team's players, however, stuck around and skated with the youth for about half an hour. The next day the wish recipients and their family members watched the Penguins square off against the New York Islanders. Pittsburgh captain Sidney Crosby offered the family members use of his charity suite to watch the game. "They covered all of our expenses," Kody Taylor said. "They went above and beyond."

The Penguins have been involved with the Make-A-Wish program for about three decades now.

Dana Antkowiak, the senior manager of marketing and communications for Pittsburgh's Make-A-Wish branch, was pleased to see the Penguins return to fulfilling wishes this

"These kids already faced isolation and difficult times before the pandemic," Antkowiak said of this year's recipients. "Then you add a pandemic on top of that, it's been exceptionally challenging for these families. For wishes to return to normal, it just means the world to them. It's so impactful on their life."

Besides his NHL contract which he plans to get framed, Chayce returned from Pittsburgh with several other souvenirs, including a Penguins' jersey with his name on the back, as well as a helmet signed by the team's play-

Eggcellent Arborg and Interlake Kids Club Easter Hunt

Interlake Co-op hosted a Kids Club Easter Hunt at both of their food stores on March 27 and 28. Approximately 70 children came to the Arborg hunt and 50 to the Eriksdale hunt. All the children got a list of clues to find prizes hidden throughout the store with their families. After completing the hunt, each child received a free cookie and drink along with an opportunity for a photo and high five with Cooper the mascot.

General manager Jordan Cook said he is thankful they are able to host local events for the kids club members to help make a positive difference in our members' lives. He also thanked the vendors and kids club committee for their help to make this a success.

Arborg arena lets the paint loose for spring break

By Patricia Barrett

At the end of its indoor ice season, the Arborg-Bifrost Parks and Recreation Commission invited residents to splash some paint around at the arena.

About 25 families, supplied with free paint, took to the ice on March 25 to create some festive and creative works of art over the course of two hours. The ice paintings included palm trees, sea and sunshine, an Easter bunny and Shrek, the big green ogre.

Recreation director Tom Chwaliboga said the commission turned off its ice plant the day before and invited people to paint whatever they wanted on the ice.

The commission provided the paint that's used to colour the lines, zones and logos on hockey and curling rinks, as well as paint brushes. They gave participants a pile of different colours, including orange, green, yellow, red, grey, black and blue, and let people "go crazy" with their images, said Chwaliboga.

"We had about 20 people come out, mostly kids, and their moms and dads helped them paint. They painted a number of different things on the ice. The kids had fun," he said. "Lots of NHL arenas do that when their season is over. Usually, they'll invite season ticket holders to paint the ice. We don't have season ticket holders, so we invited anyone to come out and paint the ice."

MTYP brings 'Frozen River' to local schools

By Lorne Stelmach

A Manitoba Theatre for Young People (MTYP) touring production that came to Warren this week offered a timely message for students.

Frozen River explores such ideas as broken promises, reconciliation, and connection through a story that spans centuries. It had performances scheduled for Warren and East Selkirk on April 4, Teulon on May 4 and Gypsumville on May 19.

It offered Julia Davis — who is a Winnipeg Inuk singer, actress and composer — a great opportunity to give back to to MTYP, where she started theatre classes at a young age and then as a teenager was in their musical theatre company.

"This is my first professional touring production with them, so it's pretty cool. It's a pretty cool full circle moment after being involved with them for so many years," said Davis. "It's been really cool to be going all over the province."

Davis recently completed her second year of study with the Village Conservatory for Music Theatre, where she premiered her own piece, Aqqaq (Northern Lights), at the year-end showcase.

She also holds a bachelor of music in vocal performance from the Desautels Faculty of Music at the University of Manitoba and is actively involved in theatre performances, competitions and film projects around Winnipeg.

Davis is now part of Frozen River as it undertakes a 12-week tour across Manitoba before heading to Young People's Theatre in Toronto and ending the tour in northern Manitoba.

Come May, the show will have been performed over 180 times across the country. It is a story that draws on history, co-operation, traditional knowledge and reconciliation.

Grandmother Moon tells the story of two 11-yearolds born under the same blood moon but in different parts of the world.

The play follows their stories as they meet in a forest and that of their descendants who meet in the present day in what is known as Manitoba. A broken promise from the past can be righted when there is finally an openness to learn from those who have protected and honoured the waterways for centuries.

Davis likes how the story makes the connections between the different timelines.

"It's about these two girls and their friendship and how they interact, and it's told in a really exciting way. They use puppets, there's some beautiful music, and the set is just gorgeous," she said. "It's a beautiful story that I think is accessible for all ages.

"The idea is about understanding each other's cultures and making promises that are intended to be kept and the repercussions that can come from breaking those promises and the hurt that can come from not being able to try to understand a culture that is different from your own.

"It's told in a way that the kids can understand," Davis continued. "The reception has been great so far. We do a little question and answer at the end, and it's been really neat to see what they've picked up from the play and the things that they remember and the messages that they received through the story.

Manitoba Theatre for Young People were at schools in Morden and Altona last week to perform Frozen River, a play highlighting Canadian history, traditional knowledge, and reconciliation.

"We do discuss the issues, such as the water on the reserves, how a lot of reserves today don't have access to clean water. ... That's an important issue that arises in the play and in real life.

"I hope it can really inspire them to keep having these conversations," Davis said in concluding with her thought on what she hopes students take away from the show.

Provincial curling recap for the week

By Ty Dilello

Gimli's Kerri and Kyle Einarson participated last weekend at the 2023 Manitoba Mixed Curling Championships at the Assiniboine Memorial Curling Club in Winnipeg.

Kerri Einarson was back on the ice competing with her husband this past weekend on Team Ryan Wiebe after winning a bronze medal at the World Women's Curling Championships in Sweden last month.

Wiebe's rink qualified for the playoffs through the B-Side after winning two games and losing one. However, in the quarterfinals, they lost to Hayden Forrester of East St. Paul, giving up a five-ender in the end to lose 8-6.

"It was a very cool experience to play with one of the top women's curlers in the world for a weekend," said Ryan Wiebe. "Obviously it was hard to lose in the end and not win the provincials, but it was still a great time and a highlight for my curling career. I hope one day to be half as accomplished as Kerri in the curling world."

Fort Rouge's Kyle Kurz was victorious at the Provincial Mixed Championship after defeating Corey Chambers of Fort Garry 8-1 in the final. Stonewall's Zachary Wasylik also participated and reached the semifinals before losing to Chambers.

In other curling news, the 2023 Canadian Junior Curling Championships were also held this past weekend in Rouyn-Noranda, Que.

Winnipeg's Jordon McDonald and McCreary's Zoey Terrick, representing Team Manitoba, both took home the bronze medal in their respective boys' and girls' national championships.

Virden's Jace Freeman and St. Vital's Grace Beaudry also participated at the junior nationals as Team Manitoba 2. Unfortunately, Freeman lost out in the quarterfinals, while Beaudry missed the playoffs.

Dennis's brother Derrick (Kathleen) and sister Karlyn (Harry); brother-in-law John (Lynda); nieces and nephews, and many friends and of course his little Penny.

Dennis is predeceased by his sons John Scott and Paul: parents Jock and Betty Hutchinson; brother lan; sister-in-law Kathleen; mother-in-law Annie; father-inlaw Jimmy: sister-in-law Irene and brother-in-law Derek.

Dennis was born in Edinburgh Scotland on January 7, 1944 to Jock and Betty Hutchinson. Ratho village is where he grew up with older brothers lan, Derrick, and sister Karlyn. In 1961 he met the love of his life Berta (Roberta), they were married November 1963 at St. Nicholas Church in Broxburn, where her parents Jimmy and Annie Calderwood were married, and her brother John (Lynda) still live there to this day and both families share a special bond.

After completing his journeyman mechanic apprenticeship and three children later (Paul, Derrick and Dianne) along with Dennis's brother Derrick and his family they moved to Corby Northants. In November 1974, leaving many good friends and relatives behind Dennis and his family emigrated to Winnipeg Canada with help from Berta's sister Irene and her family and they settled in quickly. Dennis worked in the trucking industry for many years working his way up to president of Maxim Trucks Bodyshop and Recycling. He enjoyed the everyday challenges that arose along the way, including golf tournaments both sides of the border (customer related for sure) so many good friends made over the years.

Coaching, reffing and being a huge fan of soccer, baseball, ringette, and hockey, with his kids, then watching the grandkids, it was a big highlight in Dennis's life. Dennis refereed and coached Paul and Derrick's soccer teams and loved to watch the kids play baseball, he even played a little himself. In the winter it was going from rink to rink cheering on Dianne's ringette and the boy's hockey games. He was a huge part of their lives, and the kids loved every minute of it.

Not all the grandkids were into sports, but he was right there cheering them on at all the soccer and hockey games, he became more excited the older the grandkids got.

Dennis enjoyed family gatherings at the home on Sandy Hook Gold Course, loved every minute when the grandkids would stay over. The basement was built for the grandkids in mind hoping they would all sleep over more often. When we had family gatherings he would take the grandkids on rides on the golf cart, watching everyone have fun. Dennis' pride in his kids and grandkids ongoing achievements made in life really shone through. He was one proud dad and Grandad.

Dennis enjoyed spending time with his friends everywhere he went, he also had them over to the house and play pool in the basement, where lots of fun was had. He was a pool shark to say the least and everyone wanted to be his partner.

Dennis loved his Texas winters spent in La Floresta RV Park in Mercedes. No longer able to go south they started floor curling and shuffling in their Aspen Park Community Club. It didn't matter where he was, there was fun to be had or a joke to be told.

Dennis's summers lately were spent at Inwood Golf Course, playing in the men's league and senior league. He loved the company of good friends and the chit chat that happened at the 19th

His last games were played with old friends at Sandy Hook Golf Course.

Dennis's love for golf showed to all who knew him. He was lucky enough to play at St. Andrews Golf Course in Scotland, Pebble Beach, and many more over the years. When playing a round of golf he'd say the most important shot was the next one.

If we could have bottled Dennis's personality, attitude, and perseverance the world would be a much better place.

The family wishes to extend a special thank you to the team at St. Boniface ICU ward and the staff at Gimli Community Health Centre for the loving care and support given to Dennis and our

A special thank you to Dr. Adeniyi Adegbeson for his dedication and compassion over the

Johann Magnus (Mike) Guttormson December 25, 1926 - April 1, 2023

Peacefully, surrounded by his family at Betel Home in Gimli, our sweet dad passed away on April 1, 2023.

Predeceased by his beloved wife Doreen "Mom" (Jonasson) in 1999; only son Michael in 1995; dear grandsons Corey Guttormson in 1995 and Jared Jonasson in 2013; loving parents Oddur and Gudny (Hermansson); siblings Herman (Mabel), Bjorg (Arvid) Elliott, Agnes (Bill) Lang and Thor (Noreen); nieces Jean and Mavis; nephew Jimmy; Doreen's parents Tomas G. and Orianna (Magnusson) Jonasson; her nine siblings and their spouses; many relatives, friends, and fishing buddies.

Left to cherish our pabbi's memory are daughters (his girls) Doris Bristow (Clayton), Heather Jonasson (Ryan), Cindy Guttormson (Derek) and Irene Zink. Proud Afi and Lang Afi to grandchildren and great-grandchildren Amanda Zink (Rob), Luna and River, Adam Zink (Jaime), Henry, Daisy, and baby on-the-way; Sarah Jonasson (Sasha), Daran Jonasson; Jessica Guttormson (Brent), Tristen, Michael and Grace; Chelsea Bristow; Joshua Muttner. Loving big brother to sisters Anna Forgey (Don), Lulu Rebizant (late Joe) and Diane Gard (Charlie). He was uncle Mike to many nieces and nephews.

Dad was born at home on the family farm in Husavik, MB on Christmas Day in 1926. He was namesake to his mother's cousin, Johann Magnus Bjarnason, a well-known poet, author, and teacher, who mailed him letters in Icelandic with $1 every year on their shared birthday. Pabbi loved working hard on the farm, milking cows, haying, and doing chores morning and night. Icelandic was spoken at home, and he learned English once he started school. He didn't have far to attend Kjarna School, which was located next door on land donated by their family. Ranking first in his class, he skipped from grade one to three. His childhood included delivering milk from their dairy farm, being pulled on a sleigh by their St. Bernard dog Bruna to pick up groceries from Thorsteinsson's General Store a mile north on Husavik Road and riding his bike to deliver newspapers. He told a story how he was run over and dragged by a car while delivering papers on his bike, and the carrier bag saved him. His brother Thor helped him straighten the bike so their mother wouldn't find out and cancel his source of candy money. He continued to work on the farm in partnership with Thor, even when employed full-time.

Dad met and fell in love with his beautiful future wife Doreen in Arborg, where she worked in a cafe. They had lots of fun at dances in Vidir and Geysir halls. Mom and Dad were married in Winnipeg on October 10, 1953 and celebrated almost 46 anniversaries. Together, they raised their family in Sandy Hook and then Gimli, where our lives were filled with lots of love and laughter, big family gatherings with Guttormson and Jonasson relatives, and never boring. They shared a love of laughter, fishing, gardening, camping, picking berries, beachcombing, bonfires, picnics, travelling, visiting relatives, and going for drives in the country. Dad enjoyed Mom's delicious meals and baking, especially vinarterta and ponnukokur. He loved and missed her very much.

Employment included painting cottages and air force houses, commercial fishing for neighbour Joe Isfeld, Central Warehouse at Gimli Airforce Base, then Bottling and Maintenance at Seagram's Distillery, where he made many friends before retiring in 1987. He also helped fillet and smoke fish for commercial fishermen and was famous for making the best hardfish from pickerel and

When he wasn't working, Dad loved to keep busy. He enjoyed picking mushrooms, playing cribbage (even a week ago), ice fishing, angling (several Manitoba Master Angler certificates, including one 18 lb. 4 oz. Northern Pike), listening to polka music, Tergesen's book launches, reading, watching hockey and curling (Kerri Einarson's biggest fan). He taught us kids and grandkids how to ride a bike and fish, work hard, and enjoy life to the fullest. Hunting and fishing trips with Michael, and Mom's nephew Jeff Jonasson, who said "He influenced me to be the man I am now as much as my own father did" (RIP Jeff). The annual Islendingadagurrin was a special time to watch the parade, cheer for family sports, visit family and share his special hardfish.

A resident of Betel Home since April 5, 2017, Dad continued to enjoy his life, visiting with family and friends, handing out Werther's candies, winning BINGO, folding laundry, clapping to live music, exercising, watching birds feeding at his window, and giving his famous TWO THUMBS UP to show his love and appreciation. Aunty Lu loves her new home in Betel and was so happy being close to her big brother Mike. Heartfelt thank you to all the wonderful, caring Betel staff, who provided excellent care to our sweet Dad.

Dad was strong, happy, thoughtful, kind, sweet, very silly, independent, generous, loving, humble, punctual, organized, and he never, ever complained. His legacy lives on in his wonderful

A quote from our dear friend, Veanne Torfason Hudson "I love your dad, he has always been the happiest guy I've known."

In keeping with his wishes, cremation has taken place and there will be no service. A private interment in Husavik Cemetery at a later date.

Donations in Mike's name may be made to Betel Tea Trust (c/o Recreation Dept) or Betel Home Foundation (tax receipt), 91 First Avenue, Gimli, MB R0C 1B0, or a charity of your choice.

OBITUARY

Abram Barkman June 16, 1938 - March 26, 2023

After an extended, courageous battle with cancer, on Sunday, March 26, 2023. Abram Barkman went home to be with his Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. He was 84 years old.

Abe will be lovingly remembered by Mary, his wife of 55 years; son Raynald (Melanie) and grandchildren Kealan, Liam, and Aleksandar; son Barry (Jolene) and grandchildren Jared (Samantha), Mackenzie, Zachary, and Kaden; daughter Lori (Karl) and grandchildren Ainsley and Brittney; daughter Lynn (Kevin) and grandchildren Jordan and Eleah; as well as siblings Frank (Helen), Kathy (Peter), Trudy, Tina and Herman, Ed (Helen), Paul, Henry (Lorna), Betty (Glenn), Burt and many nieces, nephews, friends, and relatives.

Abe was predeceased by his parents Peter and Gertrude and stepmother Anna; parents-in-law Peter and Neta and step-mother-in-law Helen; numerous siblings; and his daughter-in-law Deborah.

On June 16, 1938, Abe became the fifth of nine children born to Peter and Gertrude Barkman. As was common in those days, Abe was born at his parents' home, located in Blumenort, Manitoba. On March 15, 1945, this precious family gained a healthy baby boy but lost their dear mother in the process, a loss that undoubtedly shaped the life of Abe's family. On January 1, 1946, Abe's father married Anna Weibe, who would by default become the mother of nine. Two more daughters were born to this newly established couple. In 1952, Abe's family moved from Blumenort to a rural area north of Riverton, Manitoba where they pioneered a new farmstead. Abe's love for farming and forestry started during those years and continued throughout his life. Through his teens and early adult years, Abe worked numerous forestry jobs during winter months and at home on the farm in summer. In his twenties, Abe took on some construction jobs helping with the construction of the Mennville School along with the Riverton Elementary School avmnasium. Abe also worked on the Shell Mouth River Dam project operating a bulldozer. Many stories focused on that memorable winter.

As much as Abe enjoyed and took pride in his work, he had a realization that there was more to this life. In 1957, Abe accepted Jesus as his Savior and Lord and was baptized upon his confession of faith. This season of spiritual awakening shaped Abe's life. Over the years his heart for the gospel saw him involved in Sunday school, VBS, choir, youth group, and the BCBC board. Abe also served on other church boards. Abe served on the local Manitoba Pool board and was the councilor for his ward in the LGD of Fisher from 1974-1980. Serving in the Fisher council was a highlight for Abe and lifelong friendships were developed.

On July 8, 1967, Abe married Mary Harms. Together they established a farm in the Washow Bay area where they resided into their retirement. Through the years Abe hired numerous nephews and other young people from the area. Lasting friendships were made through these hirings. In 2013, Abe sold the farm to his son but never walked away from being interested in its operation.

Although Abe didn't have many hobbies, he did enjoy watching wildlife. Over the years, he retold many stories of his observations with various animals and birds. In his later years, Abe cherished the many hours spent with his grandchildren. He found much enjoyment from their involvement in music, sports, adventures and studies.

In 2019, Abe was diagnosed with prostate cancer. This last year, Abe's cancer journey has been hard, not unlike many others who have similar experiences. Abe looked forward to spending Christmas with his family and was blessed to be able to do so. He loved his family and extended family dearly. On January 1, Abe was taken to the hospital where he remained until his final breaths in the early hours of March 26. These long days were difficult, but had many meaningful times sprinkled in. We rejoice in Abe's salvation and his new, pain-free condition.

Abe's family would like to thank the hospital staff at Percy Moore Hospital for the care and love they showed during those initial two weeks. They would also like to thank the staff at the Arborg Hospital who displayed remarkable love and care to Abe primarily, but also for the love and care shown to Mary and family. You were patient, loving, kind and understanding. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts!

A public come and go viewing took place Friday, March 31 from 7-8 p.m. at Friends Funeral Home in Winnipeg. A private burial service was held Saturday morning. The Memorial Service for Abe Barkman took place at the Mennville EMC Saturday, April 1 at 2 p.m. A light lunch, which all were invited to stay for, took place at the Anchor of Hope Church located next to the Mennville

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Abe's memory to CancerCare Manitoba Foundation.
