Winnipeg Beach dog behaviour professional encourages unique dog training course

By Emma Honeybun

Local professional dog trainer from Winnipeg Beach, Jodie Fitzgerald, is encouraging people from the community to take advantage of a new, discounted online training course, currently available to the public for $10.

"The Dog's Truth — The Science of L.E.G.S.® for Families" is an esteemed dog training course that directs its attention to understanding dogs as intelligent creatures instead of simple pets. It debunks a variety of myths surrounding dog training and helps owners understand the reasoning for dog behaviour.

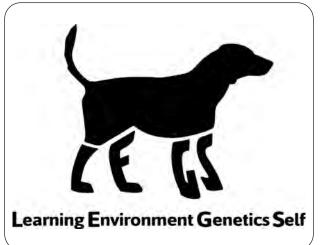

Dogs are often rehomed due to behavioural issues, and the class aims to prevent that through proper education.

"Indeed, the recognition that dogs are in fact much more than 'how we raise' them is a strangely profound assertion in a culture that has continued to falsely promote such 'blank slate' thinking about dog behaviour. In light of the recent headlines reporting the results of a Broad Institute study on dog genetics and behaviour, the questions about what really influences a dog's behaviour are on the minds of dog lovers worldwide," wrote Fitzgerald in a press release.

The class is represented by applied ethologist and professional dog trainer Kim Brophey. She's the author of the novel Meet Your Dog: The Game-Changing Guide to Understanding your Dog's Behaviour.

The class operates on the L.E.G.S strategy, which includes the following concepts:

"Learning: Yes, "how you raise them" matters. The experiences and education that a dog has day in and day out are an important element of a dog's behaviour — but it's just a quarter of the story.

Environment: The external conditions of a dog's life — historically, previously and currently — are highly influential in the recipe of a given dog's behaviour.

Genetics: The DNA that designs each dog inside and out does matter, specifically where there has been selective pressure on creating certain kinds of dogs for specific behaviours historically; and this will definitely make a difference to the family who lives with them.

Self: Each dog is an individual having their own experience as a sentient being. The internal conditions of their world — sex, age, health, personality, etc. — are entirely unique to them and important factors in their behaviour.

In the press release, Fitzgerald expressed her confidence and optimism in the course and training method. She uses the strategy for her own course,

Fitz Your Dog Training. "This makes all the difference for her clients, says Fitzgerald. "Utilising the L.E.G.S. ® model, I am able to offer dog owners and caregivers a way to understand the truth about their dog's natural behaviour, and find simple and practical solutions that will relieve the stress that dogs and owners are experiencing daily." She is thrilled to join an international community of professionals who have chosen to join the future of the industry with Family Dog Mediation.

4 The Express Weekly News Thursday, June 9, 2022 Gimli Active Trails Committee on track to develop, enhance municipal trails

By Patricia Barrett

Gimli's Transportation Trails Advisory Committee, or Active Trails Committee (ATC) for short, developed a strategic plan to guide the development, enhancement and use of public trails throughout the Municipality of Gimli.

The community volunteer group, which was formed under a municipal bylaw in 2019, met over the winter of 2021 and this spring to complete a comprehensive development plan, which the group presented to Gimli council at its regular meeting on May 25

ATC chair Cheryl Bailey said developing and enhancing municipal trails will draw nature lovers and people who like being active to the community.

"Gimli is known for its festivals the film festival, the Icelandic festival, the winter ice festival — all of which bring people to Gimli. Developing our trails will also make people want to come to Gimli. We want Gimli to be known as a place where you can come for the day to ride your bike or go for nature walks on the rail trail," said Bailey last week. "People want to be engaged with nature; it's essential for us to do that for our health and well-being, as well as to respect the environment we have."

The committee's strategic plan consists of specific objectives and actions, a timeframe and the identification of a lead and support person/group tasked with the completion of each action. Objectives include enhancing existing trails, finding future areas for development, developing trail etiquette guidelines, serving in an advisory capacity with council about the enforcement of bylaws and the safety of trail users, and creating signage on trails that will indicate distance and amenities.

Bailey said the committee wants to enhance trails the RM already has and also identify possible trail links to other municipalities that have trail systems or are in the process of devel-

We want it to be able to connect up to other areas like Bifrost and Winnipeg Beach and Dunnottar and maybe eventually Selkirk because Selkirk is doing some amazing things," she said. "Our plan in the next month or so is to make decisions about where those connections could be."

In addition to Bailey, the community volunteer group is made up of Zoe Bailey, Lynda Dodunski, Chad Ermel, Leona Johnson, Jan Keryluk, Matthew McKelvey, Chris Milne, Calvin Sedleski, Tyler Yellowega and RM councillor Thora Palson.

Bailey said the strategic plan was very well received by council and by residents who attended the meeting

"Every councillor spoke highly of the plan. They said it was the most thorough and professional-looking plan they had been presented with because we have timelines, definite goals and objectives," said Bailey. "We were very lucky that Zoe Bailey, who works for the East Interlake Watershed District, is on the committee.

Indigenous artist dives deeper into her outlet

RAMP program provides opportunities for local artists

Annie Courchene is always looking for ways to express herself through visual images rather than words.

When Courchene paints, her space is sacred and is used as her outlet to express her creativity and to keep her grounded. It's her happy place. Her art reflects her Anishinaabe culture and is filled with the passion she has had for art since she was young.

"My mom always encouraged us to express our creativity since we were little kids," said Courchene.

Courchene is a self-taught Anishinaabe/Nehiyah visual artist from Sagkeeng First Nation.

She has always made art since she was a little kid, as she grew up around a very artistic family.

"I think, as humans, we all enjoy creating and being creative. I think that's something really primal. It's good for the heart," said Courchene.

The search is on!

Be it that elusive Viking helmet in the attic, the Wayne Gretzky rookie card tucked into a sports magazine or an Egyptian artifact, collectors are actively looking. Prehistoric man collected pretty stones, warriors the spoils of war and now with access to the world on the internet, people have the opportunity to collect in what ever field they choose.

For sellers, we purchase with quality, rarity and price in mind. Sometimes we purchase a single item, sometimes an entire collection. With design today people are mixing classical with contemporary styles, making the search for unique pieces that can be the focal point of a room, even more challenging.

Having been collectors our entire lives, we have many private sources in the antiques world and are familiar with many auction houses. We carry an ever-changing inventory which we are proud to share with you at our rural location near Argyle and Kenora, Ontario. The People ask us all the time if the antique market is holding its own, and honestly the market is always changing. Items that may have been popular in the 1970s and 80s have fallen out of demand and new items from our global economy have filled their places.

Efficiency MB brings new program to Interlake First Nations

By Iris Dyck

Residents of Lake Manitoba First Nation and Lake St. Martin First Nation could soon see lower energy bills thanks to a new provincial program.

Efficiency Manitoba's Indigenous Community Energy Efficiency Program connects First Nations communities with products and services that lower their energy consumption. The Crown corporation chose 10 First Nations across the province to participate. They provide funding to hire a local energy advocate from each community for the project's two-year duration. The advocate serves as a link between Efficiency Manitoba and the public, determining which energysaving methods best meet their needs.

"It gives us an opportunity to hear what is working and hear what is important to First Nations for energy efficiency," said Amy Tuck, Indigenous and income-based program lead with Efficiency Manitoba.

Efficiency Manitoba offers a variety of programming to Manitobans to help them conserve energy. The province's newest Crown corporation helps facilitate upgrades like replacing insulation, using LED lightbulbs and installing low-flow showerheads. They also have a set of Indigenous programs, but this is the first time there will be a dedicated staff member to champion energy efficiency within First Nations communities.

Vionne Al-Shimari is the energy efficiency co-ordinator for Lake Manitoba First Nation. She has found reducing consumption and cost are priorities for her community.

"Hydro is too hard on them. They can just do little things to bring down the hydro bills and be energy efficient," she said.

Al-Shimari is working on getting clotheslines installed for anyone who wants one, reducing the amount of power used for laundry. She's also coordinated the collection of old appliances to be taken away and recycled.

Since starting the position in April, Al-Shimari has noticed several ways her community could reduce its energy footprint. The local garbage dump stood out to her most.

"Every time I would go there, I noticed how carelessly everything is dumped," she said. "It was just a big mess that we really look at and think 'Wow, we can really do something about this," she said.

These observations and first-hand experiences are why the energy advocates are crucial to the program, Tuck says.

"This is to be community-led. So, what are the community's goals?" she said. "I think it's really important that we're ensuring equity and access to our programs.

The Indigenous Community Energy Efficiency Program put out its first call for applications in 2021. Any recognized First Nation in Manitoba was able to apply by filling out a form detailing their past sustainability work and plans to engage the community should they be selected. Efficiency Manitoba awarded $40,000 per year for a two-year period to 10 First Nations. The program has a yearly intake, meaning any First Nation not selected can apply again in 2022.

"The fact that we had so much interest when the application intake window was open just shows that there is interest and that we're hoping that communities see the value in this," Tuck said.

For Al-Shimari, the value goes beyond the amount on a hydro bill. For her, energy efficiency is about taking care of where you live.

"We only have one home, and we want to be as comfortable and feel as safe as possible," she said.

"There's so much going on in the world right now. ... it doesn't only make the space around you feel better, but it will make you feel better."

Elections Manitoba launches accessible video series

Submitted by Elections Manitoba

Elections Manitoba is celebrating Manitoba Access Awareness Week, May 29 to June 4, by launching four simple and colourful animated videos showing viewers how to vote, how to register, steps to consider when planning to vote, and the types of election jobs available with Elections Manitoba.

"We are committed to making the democratic process accessible to all Manitobans," said chief electoral officer Shipra Verma. "By providing useful election information that's easy to understand and making it available in a variety of formats, we continue to remove barriers to voting. We are pleased to celebrate Access Awareness Week and continue our work towards accessibility standards."

There are two versions of each video, one in English with English closed captioning and American Sign Language (ASL) interpretation, and the other in French with French closed captioning and Langue Signe du Québec (LSQ) interpretation.

"As a deaf person and a member of the deaf community, accessing election information in American Sign Language, along with the closed-captioned videos, gives deaf Manitobans an opportunity to understand the information with more clarity," said Denise W. "ASL provides the facial expressions and body language in a video format and not just in written English. Providing information in ASL gives me and everyone who uses ASL an equal opportunity to understand the important information from Elections Manitoba. Thank you so much for making ASL available."

The videos can be viewed on the Elections Manitoba website and You-

Tube channel. The independent office of the legislative assembly will work with community organizations to circulate them widely on social media. Find them on YouTube at the following links:

Meridian Agriculture Scholarship up for grabs

Staff

There's a new scholarship available for high school students in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The Thanks for Farming Tour has teamed up with Meridian Manufacturing Inc. to offer two $1,000 awards for students in grades 11 and 12.

The Meridian Agriculture Scholarship is meant to connect students with their communities to understand and recognize the importance of agriculture and the role it plays, organizers say.

Prospective applicants are asked to submit a one-minute video answering the question: How is agriculture important in your community?

"Agriculture is a community in itself. The industry is constantly working together, but many people don't understand or see how important and involved agriculture is within communities," said Meridian's Sid Lockhart. "We're looking forward to hearing the views on this topic from our next generation."

The top finalists for the scholarship will present at the Thanks for Farming Tour events in their respective provinces in July.

"We are excited to be offering the Meridian Scholarships in conjunction with the Thanks for Farming Tour events this summer," said tour organizer Jeremy Matuszewski. "We cannot say enough about the next generation of farmers and we want to ensure they are supported in their journeys to be the next leaders in agriculture."

The deadline for applications is July 1 for Saskatchewan residents and July 15 for Manitoba residents. Full application details are available online at thanksforfarmingtour.com/scholarship.

The Thanks for Farming Tour will be in Swift Current, Sask., from July 12 to 13 and in Winkler, Man., from July 27 to 28.

On June 4, 2022, at approximately 7:25 p.m., Gimli RCMP received a report that there had been a parachuting incident at the Gimli Îndustrial Park. When officers arrived on scene, a 53-year-old woman from Winnipeg was unresponsive on the ground receiving medical attention from civilians on scene. An RCMP officer immediately began to assist.

Within minutes, Emergency Medical Services was on scene and took over care of the female. She was pronounced deceased on scene.

Initial investigation has determined that the female was a very experienced skydiver who was wearing all the appropriate safety gear. When she jumped from the plane, her parachute appeared to open at the proper altitude, but she entered into a spin and collided with the ground.

There were no issues with the aircraft, and three other people were in the plane at the time of the jump.

once, and kids should have fun like that," said Courchene.

Courchene does many different types of artwork, such as acrylic painting, aerosol painting and sewing.

"It's my happy place. It brings me a lot of peace and joy to just make art and to make something really beautiful and colourful," said Courchene.

Courchene finds herself inspired by other Anishinaabe painters such as Quill Christie-Peters.

"Her work is really powerful and beautiful — someone to look up to, I think," said Courchene.

Her mom and her grandparents also play a huge role in the work she does.

"When I think of who I am as an artist, I think of my family and all their support throughout the years. I don't think I would have kept up with my practice or be where I am without them and their support," said Courchene.

In her own practice, Courchene uses her artwork as an outlet that helps spin positivity into her everyday life.

"My artwork helps with my mental health — it keeps me grounded," said Courchene.

In September 2021, her mom encouraged her to take her work and invest in it one step further, so Courchene applied for the Indigenous Rural Art Mentorship Program (RAMP).

RAMP is a 10-month program where five emerging artists from northern and rural communities are mentored by Lita Fontaine, a professional artist. Through Fontaine, the artists learn by her knowledge, experience and practical tips to take into their own artistic practice.

¹ The program is a partnership between Mentoring Artists for Women's Art (MAWA) and the Manitoba Arts Network (MAN).

Courchene says she was surprised to get in, as she hadn't done much towards her practice through the pandemic.

"The program has been really nice and helpful. It's been super wonderful to connect with other Indigenous artists. I don't think I would have had those connections without the program," said Courchene.

On Saturday, May 28, Courchene participated in the From Within online opening reception of visual art facilitated by franco-Métis Yvette Cenerini as part of the 2022 RAMP Exhibition.

The exhibition, From Within, presented the works of artists Frances Cooper (Métis), Tess Ray Houston (Cree), Kristy Janvier (Dene) and Annie Courchene.

Courchene says the exhibit was a team effort of all the artists in the group working together as a collective.

The exhibit has artwork that reflects

Courchene says she is the youngest in the program, so she has learned a lot from the other artists in the group who are wise in their experiences with their craft.

"It's been really helpful, not only as an artist but as a person and as an Indigenous woman to connect with other Indigenous women and just to learn all I can from those ladies," said Courchene.

In October, the group will have an in-person exhibition in Brandon to showcase what they have been working on since their previous virtual exhibit.

As one of her artistic goals in the future, Courchene hopes to learn to make her own clothes as she wants to be more sustainable.

"Fashion is one of the biggest polluters today," said Courchene.

Another one of her goals is to paint murals and to work towards becoming a muralist.

A Winnipeg Beach resident, who is concerned about rising food costs and student nutrition, brought the community together to raise $645 for Winnipeg Beach School's breakfast program.

Catherine Mather organized the fundraiser because she said inflation is negatively affecting the ability of families to make ends meet. She also wanted to raise awareness of the importance of school breakfast programs.

"I chose the WBS Breakfast Program because so many children are not able to get a full and healthy breakfast before heading to school and it's a program for all the children — no child is singled out. The cost of living is going up and many families find it difficult to make ends meet. It's a reality that many parents cannot afford the healthy food they wish they could to feed their families," said Mather last Wednesday. "When a child's belly is full, they can focus on learning; it's proven that nutrition affects all aspects of development."

The breakfast program relies 100 per cent on community donations to purchase food for the school's K-8 students, she said, and public health restrictions around COVID made it difficult as far as food handling went. She said she held the fundraiser in connection with her birthday as a way to give rather than to receive, and to help create cohesiveness within the beachside community.

"Last year my birthday was coming up and COVID had been isolating so many people in the community. For me, happiness comes with connection, and the best way for me to connect is by giving back and engaging my community through mutual aid," she said. "I decided an excellent way to bring joy to my community and to myself for my birthday was an online contest or fundraiser."

This is the second year she has held the fundraiser. Last year, she raised a whopping $1,400 for the breakfast program.

Mather herself purchased products from businesses to offer as a prize draw for those who supported the fundraiser, she said. And businesses also generously stepped up with gift donations, enabling her to offer four prize packages chock-full of products such as jewelry, art and beauty products.

She sold virtual raffle tickets to get people into the "spirit of giving, which would benefit the community and bring me joy," she said. "It really took off. I bought a collection of prizes and so many local businesses and artists started to donate."

Winnipeg Beach School assistant principal Katherine Zahariuk said the school was very touched by Mather's fundraiser and by the generosity of the community.

"It was so out of the blue and unexpected last year when Catherine showed up and donated money to the breakfast program," said Zahariuk. "With COVID, we had to make sure food was packaged. We couldn't make things like pancakes from scratch. This support is so appreciated given the extra cost of having to purchase pre-packaged food items like granola bars. This is a very kind gesture."

"Unity in Community" is Northwest Interlake Harm Reduction's (an organization associated with Manitoba Harm Reduction Network) mission for this year's Pride Month, the first recognized Pride for Ashern, Eriksdale and Lundar in the Interlake area.

Through posters, media posts, awareness boards and art, the organization is ready to make a sound, welcoming start to Pride festivities. It's easing communities into the first of possibly many in a way that is not grandiose but not subtle or nervous.

They're currently ex-

MBHRN has been met with great enthusiasm from local RMs, network members and volunteers.

"The network members who are participating in the Pride planning have been so enthusiastic," said Mikayla Johnson, network co-ordinator with the Manitoba Reduction Harm Network. "Thev worked so hard and they've dedicated so much extra time to this that I feel like the prep has been very smooth sailing. It's definitely extra work, but everyone has really just joined the effort and made it possible." Johnson said that

Spruce Bay Road property inundated; culvert causing recurrent water back-ups

By Patricia Barrett

An RM of Gimli resident, whose residential property was swamped during last week's downpour, says flooding is a recurrent problem that needs to be addressed by the provincial government.

Justin Hoplock, who lives on Spruce Bay Road, had his yard flooded and house surrounded by water last Tuesday because the culvert under Provincial Road 222 is too small to handle water flow from the west.

"It has happened so many times in past years and it's so frustrating when you try to get help. The last couple of years were OK because it was dry. But in the springtime before those drought years, we always got water halfway up our yard because the culvert can't take an increased volume of water. The province doesn't have a big enough culvert going underneath the highway. It always jams up in the corner and floods my property."

As the water started creeping up to his home last Tuesday, Hoplock said he called the Municipality of Gimli's public works emergency line to ask for assistance, but the municipal staff person told Hoplock he would contact the province and get back to him.

"I asked public works if they could bring a couple of big pumps out here and pump the water across the highway so that it flows out faster, but he said that's supposed to be [provincial] highways' job," said Hoplock. "Then I phoned [provincial] highways and only got an answering machine. We had no help at all."

When he realized he wouldn't be able to obtain any assistance from the RM or the province, Hoplock said he called some friends to help him sandbag around his house.

"We were lucky enough to save pretty much everything, except the kids' play structure. We had to clean that up. We sandbagged around the house so the water didn't get into the house. It did go over the sandbags at the back of the house, but we put a pump in there to pump out the water and we built up the sandbags."

Hoplock said the reason the culvert under the highway hasn't been replaced likely comes down to money.

"The province would probably have to rip up PR 222 to install a bigger culvert," said Hoplock. "But this needs to be done because we can't be flooding all the time."

Gimli Mayor Lynn Greenberg said he's aware there's a history of Hoplock's property flooding because of the small culvert under the highway.

"When I was a councillor many years ago, I remember getting pumps in there for Justin's property — it was owned by other people at that time — and pumping water over Highway 9 [called PR 222 north of Gimli] because the province's culvert at Spruce Bay Road is way too small compared to what highways [provincial department of transportation] has along Highway 8 to the west," said Greenberg. "The province upsized the pipes to the west, but they should have started at PR 222 and worked their way west. It's the same problem we have at Silver Harbour where a paved road [Colonization Road] and culverts had to get ripped out to let the water flow faster to the lake."

Water spilled over the sandbags at the back of Hoplock's property.

Greenberg said he personally called Hoplock on June 2 to discuss his situation. He also called the RM's public works department to find out why it couldn't help Hoplock and was told that public works "didn't hear from him [Hoplock]."

Greenberg said the RM will have to discuss Hoplock's recurrent flooding with the province and "try to get it fixed."

In addition to Hoplock's flooding issue, there was a washout farther south down PR 222 at Lakeside Road (Road 114). The volume of water flowing to the lake overwhelmed culverts and caused an impassable washout. PR 222 is currently closed at that location. In response to a question about why the provincial transportation department didn't respond to Hoplock, a spokesperson said the department "does not have a record of an inquiry for this specific location."

The spokesperson didn't answer the question as to whether a larger culvert will be installed at Spruce Bay Road and PR 222.

When asked if the department has a flood mitigation plan for its highways to help mitigate future extreme weather events, the spokesperson said the province has made "many improvements over the past three years and is committed to ongoing investments in provincial water control and flood mitigation projects."

He cited repairs to and the raising of select roadways such as PR 246 and Highway 75 in southern Manitoba and a dam in Rapid City, also in 12 The Express Weekly News Thursday, June 9, 2022 Selkirk Toastmasters adopt hybrid meetings so more people can join in

By Katelyn Boulanger

The pandemic made it difficult for groups like Selkirk Toastmasters, who typically meet in person to do so, but that didn't stop the group from gathering.

They quickly adapted to video call meetings, allowing more people than ever to join. Now that restrictions have allowed them to gather in person again, they have pivoted once more, introducing hybrid meetings, which will enable new and returning members to continue to learn leadership and presentation skills and gain self-confidence.

"If you can communicate well, people will look to you as a leader right away," said Lyle Appleyard, a toastmasters member of Stonewall.

The group is one of the largest in Manitoba with 17 members aged 18 to a member in their 80s. There is also a reasonably even split of men and women in the group who have various interests, which makes it a great environment to find someone to connect with.

"We have Dave {Storey] as president, but we have other executive roles. And, each one helps to develop your leadership and your skills so that you can take them out in the real world," said Appleyard.

The program works because there are specific pathways that the group members can choose from. Each pathway allows them to determine what areas of personal growth they wish to work on.

"If you want to come in and you just want to do presentations, there's one for you, if you want to develop your humorous speaking style [there's one for you] but there's also several for developing different leadership styles. So that's what Pathways is," said Appleyard.

Each week people volunteer to take on roles at the next meeting and each of the available roles helps to develop skills in the pathways people are working on.

Patients share experiences of their 'fantastic' dentures

BY ELISHA VANDOR

Have you ever heard people say, 'when you love what you do, it doesn't feel like work?' Well, the saying goes... Do what you love and you'll never work another day in your life. That's exactly how we feel everyday coming into work at Vandor Denture Centre to transform peoples smiles. What really puts the icing on the cake is when we hear how patients are doing with their dentures after we have made them. When we do receive feeback, we share it with our entire team and it honestly puts an extra pep into our step. Here's 3 reviews that our patients so graciously wrote:

Our patient Norma received new upper and lower dentures at the beginning of April and she wanted to take them for a test drive before giving her feedback. She says, "I received my new dentures approximately 6 weeks ago. They were a replacement set. I wanted to try them for awhile before giving my review to ensure that I would be giving a fair review. The fit is absolutely fantastic. I put them in, and have not required any adjustments since I got them. Brock [the Denturist] took amazing care during the fitting process, making many adjustments during that time to ensure I had the best fit possible. I am amazed at the quality of workmanship as well. I also can't say enough about the other staff as well. They were extremely accommodating in working with my tight schedule. So friendly and professional. I will absolutely recommend Vandor Denture Centre to anyone needing new or replacement dentures. Very personalized friendly service. Thank you all so much for making this process such a great experience!!" Norma T. - May 11,2022

Another cool tidbit that makes the full-service denture experience at Vandor Denture Centre unique is that our dentures are hand-crafted inhouse; meaning the same Denturist who sees you for your appointments customizes your denture to look like your smile once was or shapes it to make it uniquely you. Recent patient Peter says, "I was so impressed with every person who works at Vandor. Every person was friendly and caring. Brock is such a talented person who hand crafted the perfect upper plate for me. When I unveiled my new denture to my wife, she was in shock at how natural they were and my smile was back. This is the place I will go for all future denture work. They are worth the 5-stars; I would give a 10 if I could." Peter M. - May 16, 2022

Lastly, (because I can only include one more of our patient's feeback before I run out of room) is from Perry who says, "The experience was pleasant and I am extremely happy with the results. The folks there are professional and personable. They are very good at what they do. I would definitely recommend Vandor Denture Centre." Perry J. - April 8, 2022

> PRIDE, FROM PG. 10

Although rural communities do not have as much of a visual Pride initiative compared to bigger cities, there is still support for those who need it.

"Our goal was really to show — whether it's members of the LGBT community or if it's fellow allies or families of members who are part of the LGBT community — that we're not going to ignore this anymore," Johnson said. "We really want to show that our members in our community who are allies and who are willing to put in some work, do some different things to bring that awareness and bring a sense of safer space in our communities to the LGBT community."

Northwest Interlake Harm Reduction's task is to reduce harm in the Interlake community as much as possible for every group possible. This includes Pride, addiction awareness, sexual and reproductive health, and others.

The organization shows support for individuals through education and awareness.

about this club is that all of our meetings are hybrid. They're all online and in person. So, if a person can't come regularly, well, then they can attend a meeting online, be at home at the meeting, but still be a part of the fellowship within the group," said Kay Boyd a member of the group who lives in Gull Lake.

They intend to continue to offer hybrid meetings in the future because it allows members from outside of Selkirk and the Interlake to join the group who may not be able to leave their homes to take part.

Boyd says this club is something anyone would likely benefit from because people don't realize how often you need to give impromptu speeches.

Their group has helped people who want to be better communicators and people who have specific goals; for instance, when Bob Hebert was selected as Selkirk's Citizen of the Year in

Unity in Community

The month of June is dedicated to recognizing and celebrating the LGBTQQIP2SAA community (lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, questioning, intersex, pansexual, two-spirit, asexual and allies). This recognition and celebration is commonly referred to as Pride.

Pride was born out of a resistance to discrimination and violence faced by the LGBTQQIP-2SAA community. Pride month promotes selfaffirmation, dignity, equal rights and increased awareness and visibility of the LGBTQQIP2SAA community and its allies.

The month of June is important to the history of LGBTQQIP2SAA history and rights. On June 28, 1969, police raided a gay bar in New York City known as Stonewall Inn. This raid sparked collective action amongst members of the LG-BTQQIP2SAA community and is the most important event leading to the gay liberation movement and the modern fight for LGBTQ

Wildwood Park Trailer Resort hit twice this year with flood water; resort up and running

By Patricia Barrett

The Wildwood Park Trailer Resort in Winnipeg Beach flooded for a second time this year as Manitoba experienced yet another Colorado low last week.

The all-season resort, which is located on the west side of Highway 9, was inundated with water last week during heavy rainfall that swamped fields, swelled ditches and raised the level of Lake Winnipeg.

"We were flooded in the springtime, too, with all those storms we had. Boundary Creek runs right through our campgrounds to the lake," said owner Craig Hainsworth. "All the runoff goes into the creek and it can't handle it. The water backs up at Highway 9 where the culvert goes underneath the highway and it did back up again at Prospect Street [farther east at the marina] even though they've removed all the culverts there."

The resort usually has between 175 and 180 trailers. Roughly 12 were affected by flood water, said Hainsworth. This second flood event came on the heels of the restoration work he had carried out after the first flood event this spring.

"One of the trailers suffered damages and it got written off. Another had water damage but the owner is repairing it himself," he said. "In the springtime the water washed away roads and washed away decks. We pretty much got the campsites back in order and this happened again. We had to close a section of the park down."

Hainsworth said he's looking at raising the level of campsites, but he'd have to bring in lots of gravel, which would entail a considerable outlay of funds.

"It would cost us a fortune but we have to do something. It has never flooded like this before," he said.

Because the Town of Winnipeg Beach removed the culverts and cut the road on Prospect Street at the marina last month when the creek threatened properties along its banks, the water was able to recede quite quickly from the trailer resort, said Hainsworth.

Mayor Tony Pimentel said Lake Winnipeg rose and became level with the creek, preventing the creek from draining quickly.

"One of the biggest problems this time around was that the lake was at the same level as the creek and we couldn't get that fast flowing water we had in the springtime," said Pimentel. "The water levels on the lake got so high with the wind and that held back the water in the creek. The lake was controlling this and preventing faster drainage from the creek."

The water was knee high in spots.

Pimentel said the town had declared a state of emergency several weeks ago in order to obtain permission from the provincial government to remove the [province's] culverts and cut the road on Prospect in order to protect the town.

"We're in the process of trying to get a meeting with the minister of environment, climate and parks, Jeff Wharton, and our MLA Derek Johnson to talk about how we're going to deal with this going forward," said Pimentel. "Since I've been on council as mayor, we've cut Prospect three times. The first time we did it, we had two culverts under the road. Then province put in a third culvert to see if that would alleviate the problem, but it hasn't."

Pimentel said the big culverts at Highway 9 where Wildwood trailer park is located are not an issue nor are the creek's berms, which are functioning properly. But the town needs a better solution to drainage at the marina, something that won't prevent water from building up in the creek.

"Culverts can sometimes freeze," said the mayor. "We're hoping to see if we can get a bridge put in on Prospect or some of other system to stop the ice jamming," he said. "We cut the road under emergency measures so hopefully there's funding available under emergency measures."

He doesn't have a timeline on when the province will fix the breach, he said. In the meantime, residents and visitors can use side streets to travel north and south to get to the marina and to the tennis courts.

"We've always had a good response from the province in situations like this. I'm confident that a solution will be found," said Pimentel. "We don't have a timeline. We don't know if

By Patricia Barrett

The family-run Sandy Hook Soap Factory announced the winners of its Truly Awesome Spring Thaw Photo contest.

The competition saw 21 entrants send in their photos and over 300 Facebook members voting on the entries.

"There was an array of spectacular photos covering the unusual conditions from this rather odd spring," said soap factory owners Pat and Ron Nuspl. "Many commented on how difficult it was to judge. Honestly, all of the entrants were winners and deserved kudos for sharing their beautiful depictions of spring in the Interlake."

Pat Payjack's Spring Awakening placed first. Wendy Wortley's Ice Melt Morning took second. Jennifer Muir's Muddy Buddies earned third place.

The Sandy Hook Soap Factory and the Little Red Veggie Stand on #8 awarded the winners gift certificates for $100, $65 and $35, first, second and third places respectively.

The soap factory previously held a Truly Awesome Snowdrift Photo Contest (see May 5 edition of the Expres Weekly News online).

Downpour takes out chunk of PR 222 near Camp Morton

Part of Provincial Road 222 was closed at Road 114 after heavy rainfall on May 31 caused a collapse and made the road impassable to traffic. Transportation and Infrastructure Minister Doyle Piwniuk and Agriculture Minister Derek Johnson visited the washout as they toured Interlake sites to see the damages but gave no timeline as to when the highway will be repaired.

The provincial government also closed part of the campground at Camp Morton Provincial Park until June 9, according to a June 1 news release, as well as the Winnipeg Beach boat launch, and says beaches on Lake Winnipeg and Lake Manitoba were left with "significant amounts of debris."

Buck on the run

This young buck was struggling to find a safe place to dodge into the forest. Flooding negatively affects the life of human beings, and it continues to pose a challenge for wildlife who are in search of food, safety or a place to have their young. Flood waters cover many dens and nests, forcing the wildlife inhabitants out. Most animals tend to migrate temporarily and return to their homes after; however, some animals get caught in the overflowing waters and drown.

June is Turkey Month, support local farms

By Autumn Fehr

Turkeys are more like people than many would think.

When you open the door of a turkey barn at any time of day, you are met with thousands of turkey heads popping up to look at you.

Then the turkeys usually come running towards you from the far end of the barn, greeting and welcoming you into their space — excited to see you.

And if you make any noise, they will respond like they are answering back. Quentin Wiebe, owner of Timberline Farms Inc., looks forward to that greeting every day as part of his work as a turkey farmer.

"When you walk into a barn, it's like you have 7, 8, 10 thousand friends happy to see you," said Wiebe.

For 27 years, Wiebe and his wife Theresa Wiebe have been looking after the turkeys on their farm in Gunton.

"My wife is an integral part of the farming process. It's very much a team effort," he said.

Wiebe starts his typical day at seven in the morning with his daily tasks to upkeep the farm, starting with a walk-through of all the barns. "You wake up in the morning and immediately your mind goes to the birds and what's happening in the barn," said Wiebe.

As a turkey farmer, checking on your birds is an integral part of your day and is done multiple times a day to ensure all is well with the turkeys.

"I think most farmers would feel this way; when the birds are doing well, then life is good," Wiebe.

Checking on the birds is both the first and the last thing done in a turkey farmer's daily routine.

"That's always the first thing to make sure all is well in the barn," said Wiebe.

> Other daily duties include giving the birds food and water and ensuring all equipment is working.

Depending on the bird's age, they may require some extra attention. When the birds are young, some more manual labour is involved, like filling the feeders by hand.

"You have to babysit the young ones," said Wiebe.

Wiebe says they are always getting ready for the next flock of turkeys.

Timberline Farms could have up to four different flocks at a time.

The farm raises four different flocks at a time, raising seven flocks a year. Timberline Farms ships their turkeys through Exceldor Cooperative, located in Blumenort, formerly known as Granny's Poultry, which is the only turkey processor in Manitoba.

"Exceldor's process is all very highly controlled and very closely monitored," said Wiebe.

Wiebe's turkeys have access to fresh air.

Timberline Farms Inc. turkeys that the farm prepares are Butterball turkeys — turkeys raised without antibiotics that are fed a mixed natural grain diet of soybeans, grains and other vitamins and minerals.

Once they ship a flock of turkeys, the work of hauling out the manure and cleaning and disinfecting the barn happens in preparation for their next incoming flock.

Wiebe says they receive the first flock around mid to end of February and the last flock of the year between mid to end of November. The flocks vary in size. The smallest they receive is 7,000 birds, and the largest is 10,000 birds.

This means that from December to January and most of February, the barns are empty, but Wiebe says during this time there is a lot of maintenance, cleaning, upgrades of equipment and disinfecting equipment that needs to be done.

"Life is a little bit easier. There's still a lot of work, but it's just not so pressing," said Wiebe.

The farm's busiest season is spring and fall, between shipping and receiving birds. During the summer, the farm is steady with added yard work to get done on the land.

Although his work is busy and at times pressing, Wiebe loves the lifestyle, especially the ease of having his work in his own backyard and the flexibility of being his boss.

"It's very rewarding when all the birds are doing well and happy. It can be a lot of fun," said Wiebe.

Not only does turkey taste good, but

"I THINK MOST Farmers Would Feel This Way; When the Birds Are Doing Well, Then Life Is Good."

Turkey is the leanest meat — whether it's white meat or dark meat. It is packed with high-quality protein that energizes your body with a boost of iron, strengthens your immune system with zinc, and provides potassium, which is healthy for the heart.

These are only some of the many benefits of eating turkey in your diet.

When using turkey as part of a meal, there are many options of how to use it, whether you bake the whole bird, use parts of it in a soup or sandwich, barbecue or smoke it.

"I think a lot of people when they think turkey, they think we have to make this whole bird. A lot of people don't even know what to do with those leftovers. There are so many options — sandwiches, soup, curry turkey," said Wiebe.

Like any poultry, it is important to cook turkey to the right temperate. Whole turkey and roasts are cooked when a meat thermometer reads 170°F (77°C) for unstuffed turkey or 180°F (82°C) for turkey stuffed with a dressing. Turkey cuts such as breasts, thighs, drumsticks and wings are cooked when it registers 165°F (74°C). Always insert your thermometer into the thickest part of the meat, away from any bones.

To ensure proper handling, those preparing a turkey can follow the set guidelines listed on the Manitoba Turkey Producers website turkey.mb.ca, such as properly handling, cooking and defrosting a turkey.

The Manitoba Turkey Producers website also has turkey recipes for ideas on what to make the next time you cook a turkey, whether using the whole bird or the leftovers after a big dinner with friends and family.

After 27 years of running a turkey farm, it becomes a lifestyle and a routine way to make a living.

Wiebe says that since he has been taking care of turkeys for so many years, when he is walking through the barn, he can tell just by the way they sound and even by the way they stand if there is a potential problem, if they are happy or not and if they are comfortable.

"Bottom line, it's a fun way to make

This month, support turkey farmers like Wiebe by enjoying some turkey. Some great options are a whole turkey, turkey roast, turkey cuts, like a breast, thigh or a couple of drumsticks, ground turkey or something quick and easy like frozen turkey burgers, sausages, ham or franks.

AsktheMoneyLady.ca

Dear Money Lady: One of my friends put all their retirement savings into an annuity and said we should too. What exactly is an Annuity? Janice Janice, I am often asked about annuities, so let's discuss this strategy that is often recommended as a way to create a lifelong income in retirement. Life annuities are designed for clients who have insufficient savings and/or a very low risk tolerance to investing in the market. There are four main types of annuities: straight life, joint life, term-certain and deferred. We will discuss each one plus some of the added features you can opt for.

Straight life annuities are the simplest. This annuity guarantees a periodic income for life with payments starting immediately minus a premium. Be careful with this one. This annuity does pay the highest amount for life, but when you die the payments stop and there is no payout to the estate. The benefit from this plan is if you live longer than your life expectancy, you will benefit from the funds left in the pool by those who died earlier. One thing I am not a fan of with this product is that the payments are fixed over time and do not compensate for inflation. Because of this you can add an income protection option called an increasing life annuity. The plan will then increase by a defined pre-set percentage each year. You can also choose an indexed annuity (often less expensive) that will increase the payments each year in line with inflation (measured only by the Canadian Consumer Price Index).

Joint life annuities last as long as either partner is alive. There are a couple of options with this one. You can buy an income-reducing annuity which is less costly, whereby the payment from the joint annuity declines when the first spouse dies. There is also an option in this plan to guarantee the payout of the premium if you choose a cash payment provision. When the annuitants die, the difference between the premium and the payout can then be paid to the beneficiaries.

Term-certain annuities are usually the one I prefer. In this annuity, payments are made for a specific period whether or not the annuitant dies. If you are using funds from your RRSP/RRIF in a term-certain annuity, payments usually only last until age 90. You can manipulate your term from 3 to 40 years and most are highly flexible. A cashable option is only available with this type of annuity since the convertible value can be easily calculated at any time. If needed, you could cash in your plan in the event of a serious medical condition or financial emergency.

The last type of annuity is called a deferred annuity and often purchased long before the income from the product is required in retirement. With this plan clients can take advantage of a slightly higher rate of interest by purchasing the annuity years earlier than actually required. You will be encouraged to pay a higher premium during the deferral period, allowing interest to accumulate in the product and therefore increasing the overall value at the agreed upon conversion date when it switches to a paying annuity. With this product, it is best to opt for a return of premium guarantee in the event that you die prematurely before the payments start. One thing to remember with this one: interest earned during the accumulation phase is taxable, so it is best to fund this product with your registered investments.

All annuities are insurance products and vary widely based on the provider. Some insurance companies offer variable pay annuities which can be linked in part to the return of a specified stock market index. These plans offer something for everyone. Clients can choose an index tailored to specific profiles, such as conservative, moderate, growth or aggressive. Depending on the insurance provider, you may even be able to choose a combination of indexes with variable payments. Basically, a person chooses an annuity product because they don't want to be concerned with the ups and downs of the stock market, and they want a "set-it and leave-it" strategy with a guaranteed monthly income for life. Now before you all run out to purchase an annuity, let me just go over some of the disadvantages. Most annuities cannot be cashed or altered after income payments have commenced. Payments often cannot be adjusted to reflect changing needs, and the funds cannot be accessed in an emergency. Remember, you are giving up ownership of your investments and control of your capital to the annuity. It cannot ever by used as a loan guarantee or reassigned. Annuities are great to help diversify a retirement portfolio, but it is always a good idea to use them with other investments that offer more flexibility, such as RRIFs and TFSAs.

NORTHWEST INTERLAKE INTEGRATED WATERSHED MANAGEMENT PLAN PROJECT MANAGEMENT TEAM VOLUNTEER REPRESENTATIVES WANTED

The West Interlake Watershed District (WIWD) is seeking a few more volunteer representatives to be on the Project Management Team for the Northwest Interlake Integrated Watershed Management Plan. If you are a resident within the RM of Grahamdale, RM of West Interlake, Dauphin River First Nation, Little Saskatchewan First Nation, Lake St. Martin First Nation, Pinaymootang First Nation, or the Lake Manitoba First Nation this may be of interest to you.

An Integrated Watershed Management Plan or "IWMP" is a long-term action plan to manage land, water and related resources on a watershed basis. IWMPs are developed cooperatively by watershed residents with input from government and stakeholders. Watershed Districts lead the IWMP planning process in Manitoba. Currently there is no IWMP for the Northwest Interlake area.

Completion of the Northwest Interlake IWMP will allow the WIWD to target conservation programming for this area of our district based on the goals and actions set by residents of the watershed. The overall intent is the protection, management, conservation and restoration of water, land and aquatic ecosystems through local action.

Please consider whether you would like to participate in this initiative. If you would like to participate or have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact the WIWD office at 204-762-5850 or email manager@wiwd.ca.

Sophie (Shwetz) Podaima

It is with deep sadness that the family announces the passing of Sophie on Sunday, May 29, 2022 at 97 years of age.

Left to mourn her passing are her sons Lloyd and Mel (Joan) and daughters-in-law Janet, Linda and Dale. She also leaves seven grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. Sophie is survived by one sister Joyce, and numerous nieces and nephews.

She was predeceased by her husband of 49 years Lenard, sons Burt and Gordie, her parents and nine siblings.

Sophie was born in 1925 in Zbaraz, Manitoba on the family farm. She came from a family of 11 children and like all young people of her time, she had to work long and hard helping on the farm. She was the oldest surviving person of the Zbaraz area, where she grew up.

Sophie and Lenard married in June 1949. They farmed for a while by Broad Valley and welcomed four boys into their family.

OBITUARY

In 1960 they moved to Fisher Branch and bought the Northern Cafe which they operated until 1983. They retired to Arborg for a number of years and later moved to Teulon. There Sophie enjoyed a large circle of good friends, and many senior social activities and crib tournaments.

Cooking was one of her favorite pastimes. There was always lots of perogies, holopchi, borscht and of course her famous butter tarts for us all to enjoy. Sophie will be dearly missed by family and friends.

Cremation has taken place and a graveside service will take place at a later date.

OBITUARY Dennis Bucher

On Monday, May 30, 2022 at the Red River Place Nursing Home, Dennis Bucher, aged 86 years, passed away.

As per his wishes, cremation has taken place and no formal service will be held. Condolences may be left on his tribute wall at www.gilbartfuneralhome.com

OBITUARY

HENRY PLETT FRIESEN

Our dad Henry P Friesen was born on May 22, 1921 in St Anne, Manitoba to John E and Gertrude Friesen. He was born again into his eternal home Saturday May 28, 2022, just after his 101st birthday.

Dad only needed 7 years of school to acquire enough formal education to lay a good foundation for a lifetime of learning. Dad spent a lot of time reading, and in his last weeks in the hospital he could often be found in his room reading his Bible that he loved so long and knew so well, but never well enough for his own satisfaction. On one visit family walked in to his hospital room and saw a nurse on one knee beside Dad sitting in his wheelchair, both reading the Bible.

Dad grew up near Blumenort with 7 brothers and 5 sisters, who all preceded him, plus one sister who died in infancy. Dad's comment in recent years was that it felt a bit like he was being kept after 4, when all of his family was going home and he had to stay. This was never said with bitterness as he loved his family here and continued to enjoy new friends all of his life, but in his last days he was ready to go. Trudy was wheeling him around the hospital one day and asked him where he would like to go. His response was "Take me to where the stairs go up to heaven."

World War 2 and the attendant conscription presented Dad with challenges as he stood before judges to make his case as a conscientious objector to serving within the war machinery of his country. Dad's determination to follow in the ways of Jesus the Prince of Peace, and the God of love who gave his own body for others, compelled him to refuse his country's call to take up arms against fellow human beings. Dad qualified for alternative service in a lumber camp in Norquay where he developed a lifelong love for the woods. Later in life he spent hours in the woods on his home farm blazing walking trails that became a community attraction, trails that his grandson Dylan now maintains in loving homage to his beloved grandfather.

Mom and Dad were married July 11, 1948 in a double ceremony with Mom's younger sister Katherine who also had a Henry she wanted to keep. When Mom and Dad moved to Morweena they found homesites across the road from each other and shared joys and sorrows, farm equipment, work and play, into retirement.

Dad was baptized in the Blumenort church and became active as a songleader, deacon, and minister. Mom and Dad moved to Morweena in 1960 to start a new farm and a new church in a new to them community near Arborg. Dad lead this church until 1984 when he resigned and became engaged in supporting churches in other far-flung communities.

Soon after this move Mom and Dad experienced tragic loss when two of their sons Alfred (age 12) and John (age 6) were killed in a farm tractor rollover in 1965. In 2002 the oldest daughter Bernice (age 52) was taken far too soon after a brief battle with ovarian cancer. Ten years later the love of his life went home on her 87th birthday after 63 years of marriage. Dad's tenacity in maintaining a positive outlook through all of these experiences leaves us in awe, and is an everlasting challenge to us.

Dad spent his life loving God and people and bringing both loves together, farming in Manitoba, and doing stints of service in Mexico, USA, Belize, and Paraguay. This resulted in relationships that enriched their lives, and ours. Mom and Dad were not only lifetime partners, but life time sweethearts and lovers, and we like to imagine them strolling heavenly gardens hand in hand, together again at last and for always. They can no longer come to us, but we go to them.

We cannot adequately express our appreciation for the communities that have been an immeasurable support to Dad through the years. Dad loved his place at Assisted Living, but much more he appreciated the people. The staff and residents quickly learned to love our Dad dearly and they gave Dad the best of care. Thank you to the staff and residents of Assisted Living, Arborg Hospital, and Arborg Personal Care Home. Thank you to Doctor Loudon, Dad's physician for many years, who developed a deep friendship and a relationship of mutual respect with Dad, and Doctor Donnelly who cared for Dad during his last hospital stay. You have been nothing less than God's angels sent to care for Dad.

We want to thank the Morweena community that has supported Dad and us through the years and in our time of loss. We appreciate your support. Thank you. Moutich veeda.

She is survived by her children Cameron (Lani) - Waylon, Arthur and Lyle; Michael (Brandi) - Jory, Calem, Breese and Tayvsley; Shelagh (Vaughn) -Keeley and Kahne; her sister Glynis Buchanan (Doug); her brothers Brad Bonkowski, Todd (Kim) and Garvis (Jen); her brothers-in-law Larry (Joanne), Lance; sisters-in-law Diane Robbins, Cindy Gitsel (Bert), numerous nieces, nephews and friends.

She was predeceased by her husband Randy and her father and mother, Stanley and Fjola

At the age of 68, Bridget lost her short battle to pancreatic cancer, and passed peacefully at the Gimli Community Health Centre.

Bridget was born November 17, 1953 in Arborg, MB, to Stanley and Fjola Bonkowski. She was raised on the family farm in Washow Bay, MB. Bridget spent a lot of her time in the kitchen with her mother who taught her a variety of life skills which Bridget perfected over the years to come. At the age of only 16 Bridget decided the farming life wasn't going to be her future so she moved to Winnipeg, MB to attend Success Community College. It was during this time she met the love of her life Randy and on September 2, 1972 they married. In May of 1975 they moved to Leaf Rapids, MB where they raised their three children. Over the years Bridget had many jobs some of which included CIBC, Ross Deliveries, North End Cafe, Canada Post and driving bus for Northern Bus Lines. Bridget was mainly known for her home day care, and made everlasting memories and friendships. If you were lucky enough to have had the opportunity to taste her cakes they were the best in town! When Ruttan Mine closed in 2002, Bridget and Randy relocated to Riverton, MB back to her roots. She worked at the Co-op, Credit Union and a group home until she retired in March 2022. Bridget was also known for her community involvement and volunteering.

Bridget was a devoted hard working wife and mother. She loved spending time with her children and grandchildren. She enjoyed dancing with her grandchildren in her kitchen. She had the best sense of humor and was always good for a laugh. Her kitchen was the heart of her home to all that knew her. There were many family vacations and camping trips while her children were growing up. They describe these times as the best childhood that one could possibly have! She cherished family winter vacations to Mexico and Jamaica and couldn't wait to plan the next trip. Rest in peace Bridget we love you.

Lovingly remembered by your family and friends.

The family would like to extend a heartfelt thanks to the ambulance and the staff of the Gimli Community Health Centre, as well as Lyndsay Palsson for all your care and support. Respecting Bridget's final wishes there will be a small service for family.

worked in a glove factory. She came back to marry a neighbourhood boy after he returned from the army. Mom and Dad were married on August 12, 1945. They spent the first years working at fishing camps where Dad fished and Mom cooked, towing along their 13-month-old daughter. They were blessed with a son three years later to complete their family. They spent many years at their farm in the Finns area. Mom devoted her time to her huge garden, canning, and, preserving for the winter along with milking cows, looking after chickens, and helping Dad in the fields. She was a woman of many talents, from cook, to baker, and a whiz with the sewing machine, crochet and knitting needles.

After their retirement, Mom and Dad took multiple bus trips with friends from Arborg. They moved to their home in Gimli in 2005 and made many new friends there. After Dad's passing, she lived in her "little house" and was independent until June 2021. She also enjoyed her monthly trips to South Beach with her new friends and Saturday night church with her niece Ollie.

Mom - you were my rock and best friend. You taught me unconditional love, respect and how to accept things we cannot change. In your words, "whatever will be will be". Rest in peace in the arms of the Lord and see the beautiful world through the eyes of an angel. Love you forever Mom, Shirley.
